FALL BORROWED $100,000 FROM DOHENY WHILE SECRETARY

RECOGNITION OF RUSSIA BY BRITAIN IS EXPECTED

Macdonald's Action Likely to Follow Line of His Denunciation of Predecessor for Failing to Do So.

TO REPLACE CECIL IN LEAGUE COUNCIL

Lord Parmoor Understood to Be the New English Representative—Cabinet Places Filled.

LONDON, Jan. 24.—Prime Minister Macdonald's recent denunciation of the "pompous folly" of withholding full recognition of Soviet Russia has prepared every body for action by the new Government in that direction, and it is stated unofficially that James O'Grady, M. P., is already being considered for the position of British Ambassador to Moscow.

O'Grady, who holds one of the seats in the House of Commons, has made a study of Russian affairs. He visited Moscow in 1917 and again in 1921 in connection with the trade union famine relief movement.

The new Prime Minister's interest in the League of Nations is well known, and according to the Daily Telegraph he contemplates an expansion of the League section of the Foreign Office in order to use it to the utmost as an instrument of general pacification. For this reason, according to the newspaper, Macdonald means to devote every effort toward the early inclusion of Germany and Russia in the League.

To Replace Lord Cecil.
The Daily Telegraph also asserts that the Premier has invited Lord Cecil, the Lord President of the Council, to represent Great Britain in the League Council, replacing Viscount Cecil of Chelwood—until now Lord Robert Cecil—who is retiring.

Contrary to the general belief and to what is supposed to have been his own intention originally, Macdonald, the Daily Mail states, has decided to fill the appointments to the royal household with members of his own party.

The appointment of Miss Mary Blandford, to the secretaryship of the Ministry of Labor, thus making her the first woman to have a place in the British Government, is very favorably received. There is some surprise at the Ministry of Labor, but it is said that she herself did not wish distinction.

Lady Astor, at a political meeting in the day had voiced extreme regret that Miss Blandford was not included in the cabinet, saying: "Maggie Blandford is worth twice some of the others in the cabinet."

LENINE'S BRAIN DEEPLY CONVULSED AND WEIGHT EXCEEDED 47 OUNCES

SPECIAL Cable to the Post-Dispatch.
GORKY, Russia, Jan. 24.
THE weight of the brain of Nikolai Lenin is just about the same as the accepted average in adult males of the white races of America and Europe.

Prof. Abrikosov, who embalmed the late Premier's body, announced the weight of his brain as 1240 grams, or slightly over 47 ounces. The convulsions are unusually deep, showing a very high degree of intellect.

A common belief that large brains are associated with unusual mentality, authorities say, is unfounded. However, many brilliant men had unusually heavy brains. The brains of Kant, the philosopher, and Prince Katsura, the Japanese statesman, weighed 1600 grams, slightly heavier than that of Napoleon III. Bismarck's brain ran about 300 grams above the average, and Daniel Webster's brain was also exceptionally heavy. The average is between 47 and 50 ounces.

CROWD SEES WORKMEN PULL DOWN WALL AT FIRE SCENE

Yanking in Unison on Ropes Pelted Three-Story Structure on Broadway.

Hundreds of persons in the vicinity of Broadway and Locust street were startled by a deafening roar and the rumbling crash of falling brick at 1:10 p. m. today. Many ran in the direction of the crash and saw several hundred more standing open-mouthed around a cloud of dust which covered the scene of the $1,000,000 fire of Jan. 5.

It was not an accident. A crew of workmen had merely wrecked with one stroke the three-story north wall of the Rhodes-Burford warehouse which had remained standing after the other walls had collapsed. Preparation for the work commenced about an hour and a large crowd gathered. Ropes were attached to the weakened wall and the new Federal Reserve Bank Building, pulled in the excitement, gathered in the union. The entire wall tumbled.

JOHN D. JR. PROGRESSING

If Money Holds Out, He Hopes to Play Good Game of Golf.

NEW YORK, Jan. 24.—"If my money holds out," John D. Rockefeller Jr., told the members of the Men's Bible Class of the Park Avenue Baptist church last night, "I eventually will learn to play a pretty good game of golf."

He has been learning of the game so far, Rockefeller said, is "to hit the ball once in ten times" and "never to pick up a lost ball until it has stopped rolling." Another remark, he finds, is to wear a snappy suit that gives the proper atmosphere and never to appear in a gymnasium suit. Neither his father nor professional instructors, he said, had been able to introduce him to all the ropes.

THOUSANDS WAIT IN 20-BELOW COLD TO VIEW LENINE

Thinly Clad Throngs Stand in Mile-Long Lines, While Sparrows Fall Frozen to Ground.

HOSTS OF CHILDREN HONOR LATE PREMIER

All Night, Crowds File Past Casket in Moscow Hall, and Others Arrive in Early Morning.

MOSCOW, Jan. 24.—The body of Nikolai Lenin, the Soviet Premier and probably the greatest rebel of this or perhaps any other generation against the system of society built up by the ages, lies in a silver-trimmed casket on a red-draped dais in the great glistening hall of the House of Unions in Moscow.

Tens of thousands of persons marched last night and today past the bier to take a last look upon the face of the man who led the Communist revolution which turned topsy-turvy the lives of the people of a nation of 130,000,000 people and left its mark in nearly every corner of the globe.

Some of those in the throng passing by the casket perhaps had followed and loved Lenin, while others must have hated him, but there was almost dead silence and solemnity in the great hall and the women, gathered in the excitement of respect for the dead than of curiosity.

Coldest Weather in Years.

The weather was colder than it has been for years—20 degrees below zero. Sparrows fell frozen in the street. Frozen cars and buses were common. Yet, from the moment when the late Premier's body was exposed in state, armies of people poured in from all quarters. Many, thinly clad, stood in lines a mile long.

Every back street in the neighborhood had its processionists, with banners, waiting their turn to join the line. Every now and then someone would collapse or fall out, unable to stand the killing cold any longer.

Not until 4 o'clock this morning did the push slacken, and even then only for a short time, for by 5 o'clock fresh contingents began arriving from the outlying districts. This morning tens of thousands of children from national homes were waiting in the unheated streets hour after hour in the falling snow, some of them with the thinnest imaginable footwear and clothing.

Many of the children had passed the crowd at 7 p. m. yesterday, but owing to the great press the doors were thrown open at 5 o'clock. Silently and in orderly fashion the people passed by the casket, each person obtaining a momentary glance of the late Premier.

Lenine was dressed in a gray brown suit. His waxlike face bore few marks to indicate the suffering through which he had passed. Soldiers lined the hall, where the casket lay. The guard of honor about the casket was changed every 10 minutes. This guard is composed of commissars, labor leaders and members of the Executive Committee of the Third International. The commissars include such men as George Tchitcherin, the Foreign Minister. It is expected that the body will be exposed to the view of the people until Saturday morning, when the funeral takes place.

REPUBLICANS ARE GLOOMY OVER THE TEAPOT SCANDAL

Smudgy Record of Oil Reserve Leases Darkens Sunny Complacency Toward Future.

FORBES AND FALL HURT THEIR CHANCES

And Denby and Daugherty Become Targets for Assault by Delving Party Opponents.

By CHARLES G. ROSS, Chief Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.
WASHINGTON, Jan. 24.—Just when the winter of their discontent seemed about to be resolved into glorious summer by the rising shadow of the Teapot Dome scandal has struck a blow to the horizon of Republican party leaders, bringing gloom and dismay. Today they are running in circles, wondering where the lightning will strike next.

Not since the Republican party came back into power in March, 1921, trumpeting forth a pledge to re-establish "business in Government" and save the country from the brink of the precipice to which it had been driven by the alleged misdoings of the Democrats, not since that fateful day when Main street was extended to include Pennsylvania avenue, and the public party of the Republican statement been at such low ebb.

Whatever vestige of complacency the party chieftains retained after the disclosure of the Department of the Veterans' Bureau under Forbes has been shocked out of them by the Teapot Dome revelations. It is not hard to imagine the disturbance of thought in the Republican party if the recent disclosures involving two great departments of government had occurred under President Harding. Fall of the Interior Department and Forbes of the Veterans' Bureau were his appointees. He thought so highly of Fall that at one time the former New Mexico Senator appeared to be cast for the role of Secretary of State.

Still in the Cabinet.
Denby of the Navy, who assented to—indeed, as he testified, initiated—the proceedings by which the navy's oil in reserves No. 1 and No. 3 was turned over to the Department of the Interior, is still in office as a Harding appointee. Daugherty, the Attorney General, who has not yet seen fit to move against anybody connected with the Veterans' Bureau scandal, who was the pusher of the Teapot Dome case, is still in the Senate yesterday to be qualified for acting for the Government in the Teapot Dome case because of the "widespread suspicion" against him.

If a new President, without personal responsibility for Forbes, Fall, Daugherty and Denby, had not come into office, the storm would have been terrific than it is. The Administration would certainly have been faced with the grave probability of repudiation in November.

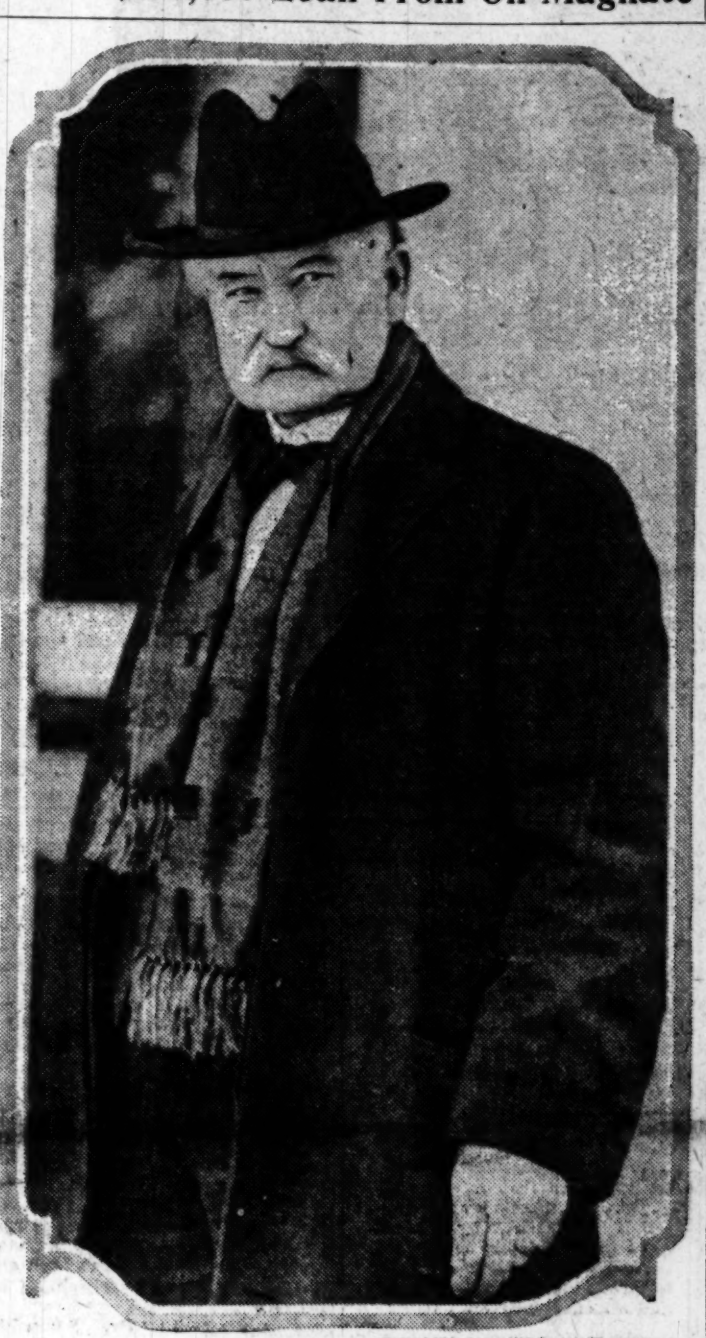

Sleep Didn't Go for Golf.

The Coolidge administration is in better case, but it is not underestimating the danger. It is hardly to be doubted that Sleep, the President's secretary, went to Palm Beach, at the busiest season of the year, at a time when the President feels that he cannot spare a single day from the duties of his office, for something more than golf. It may have been only an intervening coincidence when Sleep said he got the $100,000 for improvements on his ranch (and who later said Fall returned the checks uncashed); it may have been only a coincidence, but Washington doesn't think so.

(E. L. Doheny today testified he loaned Fall $100,000 in the fall of 1921.)
Washington, meaning that part of it which takes a direct interest in political maneuvers, is convinced that Sleep went to Palm Beach to try to get the "inside story" of Teapot Dome for the guidance of the President.

Washington also feels that there is a possibility of a scandal in the future. It is not hard to imagine the disturbance of thought in the Republican party if the recent disclosures involving two great departments of government had occurred under President Harding. Fall of the Interior Department and Forbes of the Veterans' Bureau were his appointees. He thought so highly of Fall that at one time the former New Mexico Senator appeared to be cast for the role of Secretary of State.

OIL MAN TESTIFIES LOAN WAS PRIOR TO LEASE TRANSACTIONS

Money Was to Help Fall Enlarge Ranch Holdings, He Tells Senators, and Loan Had No Relation to Subsequent Deals With Government on Oil Reserves.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Jan. 24.—E. L. Doheny, the California oil magnate, whose interests leased a naval oil reserve while Albert B. Fall was Secretary of the Interior, told the Senate Public Lands Committee today that he loaned Fall $100,000 in cash in November, 1921. The transaction, Doheny said, was "a personal matter" and had nothing to do with oil leases.

The disclosure was made voluntarily, and the witness said he was acting with the full knowledge and approval of Fall, with whom he conferred in New Orleans a few days ago and now is on his way to Washington to testify.

Doheny gave the date of the loan as November 30, 1921, or several months before the Interior Secretary signed the agreement leasing the California reserve to the Doheny interests.

Fall had told him, Doheny said, that he hoped to raise a loan and that he had expected to get the money from Mr. McLean. This, the witness said, he took as a hint upon the need to loan the money. "I felt that I was Fall's only friend who had money which could be spared," Doheny said.

The loaning of $100,000 to Fall was with him, he added, nothing more than loaning $25 or $50 by an ordinary man. But he added he was aware that "Mr. Fall, because of his friendly feeling, may have favored me."

The old operator went on to say that he intended to require Fall to repay the loan. Under repeated questioning he insisted that the only thought he had when he made the loan was a desire to help an old friend, who had met with many business set-backs.

Money Carried in a Satchel.
The money, he said, was placed in a satchel and was sent to Fall by Doheny's son. He used a check upon Blair & Co. bank in New York to obtain the cash. He said he had the check and would present it to the committee.

Fall gave a note, he continued, which is in the Doheny office either in New York or Los Angeles. The note will be located, he said, and also presented to the committee.

Responding to questions by Senator Walsh, Democrat, Montana, Doheny said he had conferred only with his counsel and members of his party since he arrived in Washington early today.

"Certain," said the witness as he fished out of his pocket a number of tiny scraps of paper. He explained that he had torn up the note.

Senator Smoot said he would tell the committee what was in it but Doheny interjected that there was a single sentence: "After you get through here I would like to see you in my room."

When Doheny conceded under questioning that it would be but natural for Fall to be prejudiced in his favor, Chairman Lenroot wanted to know whether Doheny would not be willing therefore to turn back his lease to the Government. The witness said he had offered to do that, but Chairman Lenroot said his offer was conditioned on the basis of a finding of facts by experts.

Doheny's Statement.
"I have been following the reports of the proceedings before your committee," said Doheny's statement, "and have concluded that, notwithstanding my authorization to ex-Secretary Fall early in December to state the full and complete facts in connection with a personal transaction had in 1921 between Mr. Fall and myself, Mr. Fall has been making an effort to keep my name out of the discussion for the reason that a full statement might be misunderstood."

"Whether there is a possibility of such misunderstanding or not, I wish to state to the committee and

W. H. ANDERSON SEEKS TO JUSTIFY DRY FEE 'SPLIT'

Defense Asserts Antislavery
League Head Made a Contract With Collector
to Share in Commission.

TO ADMIT CHANGE IN THE BOOKS

Public Accountant Says
He Was "Stumped" by Some Entries—Checks
Not Recorded.

NEW YORK, Jan. 24.—William H. Anderson, exercising the right of his office as State superintendent of the Anti-Slavery League, made a contract with O. Bertall Phillips, the League fund collector, to share in Phillips' excess commissions, Anderson's attorneys declared today in outlining the defense they would make against the charge on which he is being tried.

Colley Williams, one of the attorneys, said that under this contract Anderson agreed that Phillips would not have to pay income taxes on the moneys he turned over to Anderson. He admitted that Anderson, as brought out by the prosecution yesterday, ordered the transfer of one entry of $4400 from Phillips' salary account to his hotel and traveling expense account.

The defense, he continued, would prove that the case now before the jury was one purely of bookkeeping and that the prosecution had either been badly advised about the mysteries of bookkeeping or had proceeded recklessly in making its accusations.

Defendant to Take Stand.

"Mr. Anderson," he added, "has nothing to fear, and he will take the stand in his own defense."

Bertram H. Fancher, vice president of the Fifth Avenue National Bank, the first defense witness, said he had been treasurer of the League for five years.

Fancher testified that he knew, generally, the condition of the League's books and believed them to be all right. They were examined periodically, he added, by certified public accountants. He admitted, however, that he knew nothing of the transferred entries until investigation was started by the District Attorney's office.

William S. McLaughlin, public accountant, who examined the League's books in 1921, testified that the entries "meant nothing," in so far as fraud was concerned. From examination by Assistant District Attorney Fancher, the prosecutor, he admitted he had been "stumped" by some of the entries when he examined them.

Books Didn't Satisfy Him.

Supreme Court Justice Tompkins, sitting in the case, asked, "So the books didn't satisfy you?"

"No," McLaughlin replied. "I had to ask Mr. Potter, the head bookkeeper, why the entries were made and for what purpose. I adjusted them in my report to the board of directors of the League."

McLaughlin then was questioned about checks Anderson had ordered made to himself and about the $2375 salary account.

These, he admitted, on cross examination, did not show on the books, but the books were adjusted after Potter went to Phillips and had him write receipts.

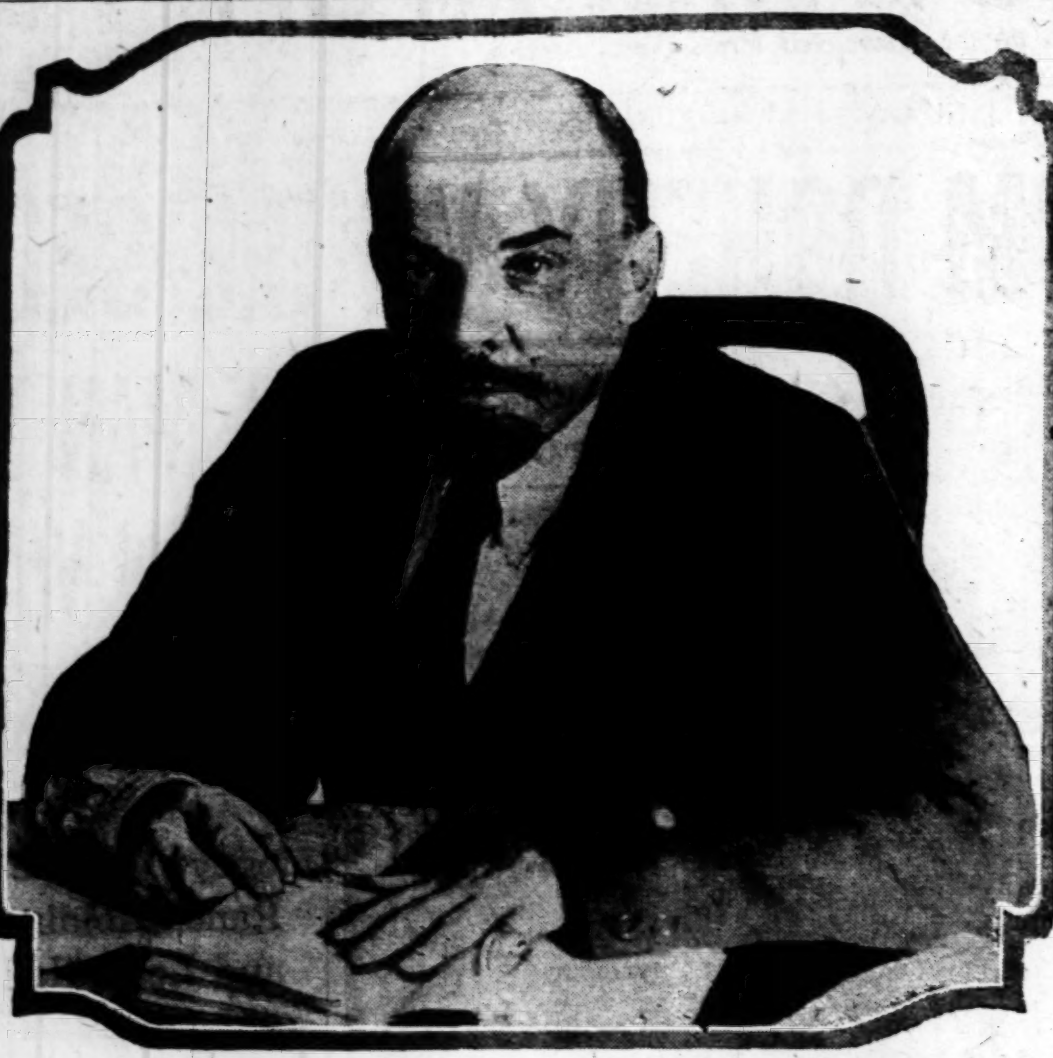

The defense attorneys attempted to bring out that these transactions to the books were privileged under the contract Anderson and Phillips had entered into to divide excess commissions.

Anderson gave written instructions for the transfer on the organization's books of financial transactions which form the basis of the forgery charge, testimony given yesterday disclosed.

Potter's Testimony Unshaken.

The testimony was given by Potter, who identified a note instructing him to make the transfer as having been signed by the defendant in March, 1921. Potter further testified that Anderson had "paid to himself" $2375 in checks, which he had ordered drawn against the salary account of Phillips, who accused Anderson of having compelled him to "split" his collection commissions in excess of $10,000 annually.

Potter's testimony, from which he could not be shaken throughout a severe grilling by former Gov. Charles S. Whitman, chief of Anderson's counsel, closed the State's case. Whitman then made the customary motions that the jury be instructed to return a verdict of not guilty and that the forgery indictment be quashed. Both were denied.

Potter's direct testimony was largely in corroboration of statements made on the stand by Phillips. Whitman made a vigorous attempt to tear down the credibility of Potter's statements. He asked Potter if a money consideration had not induced him to dispose of his book store in McAllen, Tex., to return to New York to appear as a witness against Anderson. Potter replied in the negative.

"Is it not true," the former Governor shouted at the witness, "that you now are in the pay of the liquor interests and have been ever since you came back from Texas?"

"It is not," Potter replied.

Potter testified that he had remonstrated with Anderson at the time he directed him to make out two checks totaling $2375 against Phillips' salary in 1920, saying he suggested that the checks be drawn in the collector's name and indorsed over to Anderson by him.

Anderson refused, he said, and he complied. Phillips previously had testified that these checks represented the 1920 commission "split," which Anderson had "paid to himself."

Phillips, he said, complained to him about the office notice he prepared for the Government's information on the collector's taxable income for 1920. The slip total was $18,889.

Order to Transfer Entries.

"Phillips told me that he had received only $14,400 from the league that year," Potter testified, "so I took the matter up with Anderson. I told him that from his manner Phillips had given me the impression that he had been forced to 'split' his commissions with someone. Anderson nodded, said nothing for a moment and then announced he would let me know about it later."

Later that same day, Potter testified, Anderson sent him a signed order directing that he transfer on the league's books $4400 from Phillips' salary account to the collector's expense account. He followed these instructions, he said.

Whitman opened his cross-examination by asking Potter what he had done since he had been

HOLY SYNOD DECLARES LENIN A CHRISTIAN; CHURCH BELLS TO TOLL

MOSCOW, Jan. 24.

THE HOLY SYNOD, in formal session today, declared Lenin a Christian.

No church bells have tolled as yet in Lenin's memory, but now they will probably ring out on the day of the funeral, since the Holy Synod has formally adopted Archbishop Evdokim's suggestion to Christianize Lenin.

The synod sent a letter to President Kalinin of the All-Russian central executive committee, expressing sympathy in the death of the "Great Liberator," the tribute concluding.

"Eternal memory and eternal peace to your long-suffering, good and Christian soul."

In his life, Lenin was the bitter enemy of Christianity and all other religions.

discharged by the league in December, 1922. He went to Texas, he said, where he married his second wife, a former employee of the Antislavery League. In McAllen, he said, he opened a book store. A reporter of the New York Evening Mail called on him in Texas, he continued, and interviewed him concerning his connection with the league.

"Did you receive another visitor, who offered to make it worth your while to return to New York and testify against Anderson?" Whitman asked.

Potter denied this, explaining that he decided to suffer a $5000 business loss to return to appear against Anderson because the league head was making "wild statements" about him. He refused to tell Whitman in a manner in which he sustained himself and his wife since his return here, but explained, under direct cross-examination, that for a time he had been the sole of his McAllen business and the sale of property in Suffolk, N. Y., and Asbury Park, N. J., had provided a livelihood.

After Potter had concluded his testimony, Whitman conceded that the $2375 checks, which Phillips had alleged Anderson had "paid to himself," had been deposited to the league head's account in a local bank.

FREE BRIDGE BILL AGREEMENT

House Committee Makes I. C. Commission Arbitrator on Approach.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24.—The House Interstate Commerce Committee, which has had under consideration the St. Louis Municipal Bridge dispute, formally agreed today to a measure granting a three-year extension of time for completion of the bridge, but making the building of any proposed approach on the East Side subject to approval by the Interstate Commerce Commission. If the measure is passed, St. Louis will have to get permission from the commission before proceeding with the so-called Gerhart or Northeasters approach.

Another effort to hasten condemnation of East St. Louis land for the northeast approach to the Municipal Bridge will be made tomorrow with introduction in the Board of Aldermen of a resolution, prepared by Frank H. Gerhart, declaring that there exists an emergency which would warrant the Comptroller to draw $443,000 from the general funds of the city, for use in the condemnation proceedings.

THOUSANDS WAIT IN 20-BELOW COLD TO VIEW LENIN

lations with it hung at half mast over embassies, legations or headquarters. Perfect order marked the day.

Lenin up to the last few days before his death really took an active interest in politics. He is said to have been always the dominant spirit of those with him, though the autopsy revealed that it was remarkable that he had survived so long, for he had been ill 20 years.

Dr. Semashko, Commissioner of Health, who had been in attendance upon Lenin for some time, spoke of the leader's last hours as he waited the arrival of the funeral train here.

"Up to the last," said Dr. Semashko, "Lenin read continuously, even the recent party discussions and the last statement of M. Stalin, the tribute policies, which he approved."

According to Dr. Semashko, stomach trouble appeared some hours before Lenin passed away. The patient was given the usual remedy, but shortly afterward he fell unconscious in the presence of his wife, his brother-in-law, and his personal physician.

Mme. Lenin was grief-stricken at first when told that her husband had only a short time to live, but she bravely reconciled herself to his passing. Shortly after death, a mask was taken of the features of Lenin.

The Soviet Government will continue the fundamental policies of Lenin, looking to peaceful relations with the world and the international reconstruction of Russia.

Foreign Minister Litvinov told the correspondents. He added that Lenin had been inactive in the Government during the last year, and therefore there was no reason to think that the affairs of government would be different because of his death.

It has not yet been decided whether a new president of the council of commissars will be named or whether, as last year, the post will be jointly administered by several executives.

It is said that Leon Trotsky, the War Minister, who is ill in the Caucasus, continues to suffer from high temperature.

To this might fairly be added the sum of $120,000, by which sum the company's unqualified bid was lower than its competitor's bid, thus making the contract an extremely advantageous one for the Government, and, as before stated, untaxable in its benefits to the company.

Later a year after I had made the loan to Mr. Fall, the Navy Department, desiring additional storage facilities, and petroleum products at Pearl Harbor, requested that the original contract of the Pan-American Petroleum and Transport Co. be supplemented so that a new contract be made providing for the additional work and supplies, as is shown by the letter of the Secretary of the Navy dated Nov. 9, 1922. For some time negotiations were carried on in which the president of our California company, who came to Washington for that

"WILL WE LOSE THE WAY?" ASKS TROTSKY

Says News of Lenin's Death
"Is Like Boulder Falling Into Sea."

SPECIAL Cable to the Post-Dispatch.

TIFLIS, Soviet of Georgia, Jan. 24.—Leon Trotsky, Commissar for War in the Russian Cabinet and colleague of Lenin, said today that the death of Lenin is a "terrible blow," but will not stop the execution of the communist policies inaugurated by the late leader.

Trotsky was compelled to come to Southern Russia by ill health. It was here he received news of Lenin's death.

"Lenin is no more," exclaimed Trotsky, after receiving a telegram from Moscow. "Medicine proved unable to accomplish what millions of hearts passionately demanded."

"Lenin is dead. These words strike one's consciousness as a huge boulder falling into the sea. The ripples will be felt throughout the world."

"World's Greatest Genius."

"Workers' minds everywhere will refuse to accept the fact that Lenin is no more. The enemy is still terribly strong. The road we must traverse is long. History's greatest work is still unfinished."

"Lenin was necessary" to the world's working class, perhaps as nobody before in the world was necessary.

"The second attack of sickness which overwhelmed Lenin was more severe than the first. We all expected and hoped for recovery, but catastrophe overcame him."

"The breathing organs refused to work and the fatal attack struck on the day of the funeral, since the Holy Synod has formally adopted Archbishop Evdokim's suggestion to Christianize Lenin."

"How will we go forward? Will we be able to find the road? Will we lose the way? These are questions which agitate our souls."

His Teachings Live.

"Lenin is gone, but Leninism remains immortal. Lenin's teachings, his works and his example live amongst us in the party he created. They live in the first workers' state the world has ever known. They live in the hearts of men who worked with Lenin and loved him."

"A fraction of Lenin survives in each of us. It is our better part. I believe and hope that through collective effort we will find the road which Lenin pointed out to us and follow it to the goal."

"Tomorrow, perhaps the day after tomorrow—maybe a week or a month later, we will be asking ourselves if it is possible that Lenin is no more. Let the sting which our hearts feel upon recalling Lenin's death serve as a reminder that we have work to do—important work. Let it instill in our minds the responsibility which we owe to the world and the future."

"In our mourning and our grief, let us close our ranks and strengthen our hearts for the new battle which awaits us."

Owing to illness, Trotsky will not be able to attend the funeral Saturday.

PLANS PEDESTRIAN SUBWAYS
AT GRAND AND WASHINGTON

Fisk Would Construct Underground Passageway to Lessen the Traffic Congestion.

Two underground passageways for pedestrians, across Grand boulevard at Washington boulevard, to relieve the congestion of vehicular and pedestrian traffic during the winter hours, are provided for in an ordinance drafted by Director of Streets and Sewers Fisk, which he will submit to the Board of Public Service.

The ordinance provides for expenditure of $25,000 on construction of an underground public comfort station on the site of the triangular parkway which separates the $250,000, which amount reduced through economies made by the company in its construction work and its purchase of fuel oil by the sum of $225,000, the difference between the company's unqualified bid and its alternative bid, amounts to $250,000. To this might fairly be added the sum of $120,000, by which sum the company's unqualified bid was lower than its competitor's bid, thus making the contract an extremely advantageous one for the Government, and, as before stated, untaxable in its benefits to the company.

"In addition," the Government has received under a provision of the contract the benefit of a discount of 50 cents per barrel in the purchase of fuel oil furnished it, amounting to about $725,000. The construction work under this contract is practically completed and the fuel oil has been delivered into the tanks at Pearl Harbor.

A Year After the Loan.

Later a year after I had made the loan to Mr. Fall, the Navy Department, desiring additional storage facilities, and petroleum products at Pearl Harbor, requested that the original contract of the Pan-American Petroleum and Transport Co. be supplemented so that a new contract be made providing for the additional work and supplies, as is shown by the letter of the Secretary of the Navy dated Nov. 9, 1922. For some time negotiations were carried on in which the president of our California company, who came to Washington for that was the direct outgrowth of the contract which Pan-American Petroleum & Transport Co. made with the navy as a result of competitive bids, in which that company was the lowest bidder, for the construction of certain storage facilities and the furnishing of fuel oil at Pearl Harbor, T. H., and in the absence of that contract, the lease would never have been executed.

"The Navy Department, through its representative, took up with us the question of constructing the improvements and facilities at Pearl Harbor and of paying for them with the royalty oil which the navy was then obtaining from the various leases in naval reserves Nos. 1 and 2, and of filling the tankage constructed with a large quantity of fuel oil."

"I was entirely in sympathy with the purpose of the navy, the reasons for which have perhaps been better explained to your committee by the navy's representative, Admiral Robison, than I could hope to do. I promised Admiral Robison that our company would at least submit a bid to perform the work under those conditions; that is, furnish the money to pay for the work of construction at the Harbor and of filling the tanks with oil and receive in return royalty oil at the posted field price to the value of the money expended. The incidents up to the date of the contract, and the fact that the contract was let on competitive bidding, eliminate any possibility of favor to the company by either the navy department or the interior department."

"The negotiations for this contract between the navy department and the company were conducted by our local Washington attorney, who was assisted in determining the necessary calculations by our California general manager, who is president of the California company. As a result of their exchange of ideas, our California general manager decided that the terms of the proposed contract were not such as to be to our advantage to the company and that the company could not afford to take the risks attached to the conjectural profit that might result therefrom, and he so stated in a letter which he wrote to our Washington attorney."

"That service from the navy nor our California attorney nor any other officer or attorney of the company had any knowledge of the loan which I made to Mr. Fall, that being an entirely private matter, involving in no way the company's funds."

When the Bids Were Opened.

"When the bids were opened I found that the bid of the Pan-American Petroleum & Transport Co. was the lowest. The Washington attorney of the company had conceived the idea of making, in accordance with the provisions of the contract, an alternative bid of $250,000, which would have shown a considerable saving to the Government in the actual cost of the construction under the contract, and a recompense to the Pan-American Petroleum & Transport Co. for such waiver of profits by giving it an opportunity later on to extend its petroleum business in California through the acquisition of additional oil territory whenever the navy might be disposed to make additional contracts for the development of its reserve."

The alternate bid was considered the most favorable by the representatives of the Government, as is shown by a letter addressed to the Washington attorney of the company under date of April 25, 1922, and signed in the absence of Mr. Fall from Washington by the acting Secretary of the Interior and the Secretary of the Navy. The Doheny read the letter into the Record.

These facts conclusively demonstrated," he continued, "that there could not have been any collusion between the Pan-American Petroleum and Transport company and anybody whatsoever."

The contract provided for an expenditure by the company of $6,466,795.50, which amount reduced through economies made by the company in its construction work and its purchase of fuel oil by the sum of $225,000, the difference between the company's unqualified bid and its alternative bid, amounts to $250,000. NEW YORK, Jan. 24.—Frank J. Gould offered to buy the Jay Gould estate's vast holdings in the Missouri Pacific Railroad in 1911 to calm the fears of his sister Helene, Mrs. Pinkey J. Shepard, widow of her oldest brother, George, who had died in 1908.

Funeral Cortege Three Blocks Long, Led by Band, for "The Banana Man."

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24.—Recovery of the bodies of Capt. Herbert G. Sparrow and Radio Man Solomon Sirin, aboard the wreck of the cruiser Tacoma at Vera Cruz, was reported to the Navy Department today by the commander of the destroyer flotilla which arrived yesterday off the Mexican port.

The bodies of the two other radio men who were killed on the ship during the northern which wrecked her have not been found.

Six other men, including three commissioned officers, were injured during the storm, the message added, none of them seriously.

The Tacoma is damaged beyond possibility of salvage, in the opinion of wrecking experts at Vera Cruz. Small arms and ammunition and the breech locks and sights of the ship's guns have been removed.

Capt. Sparrow and the three radio men lost their lives in a gallant attempt to maintain radio communication with shore. Seas sweeping over the vessel crushed the radio house in which they were working. The ship's bottom was crushed in, her gun deck smashed, her spare deck stripped, her side plates bulged open and the engines forced from their foundations as she was pounded on the rocks.

MARYVILLE, Mo., Jan. 24.—Two robbers held up and robbed Rich Harriet of $800 at his home on the Dalby farm, about six miles east of Burlington Junction, at 1 a. m. yesterday. The robbers escaped in a car waiting for them.

While hundreds stood in the street and scores of others peered from doors and windows, the casket was brought out, passing under an arch formed by the staffs of two flags, symbolizing a native and an adopted homeland, while the band played "Nearer, My God, to Thee." The funeral proceeded to the Church of Our Lady of Help of Christians, 1008 Wash. street, where there was solo music and a mass and sermon by the Rev. JUROR'S ALLEGED PREJUDICE BASIS FOR NEW TRIAL

Foreman in Damage Case Said to Have Made Statement Regarding Jews and Foreigners.

The St. Louis Court of Appeals has upheld the granting of a new trial of the $7500 damage suit of Mrs. Anna Reisman against the United Railways, which had been decided against her in Circuit Court. The appellate court mandate says it is evident Circuit Judge Falkenhainer, in granting the motion for a new trial after the jury's verdict was returned, in March, 1922, had "considered the misconduct of the foreman and regarded it as exercising an improper influence on the jury."

Paul F. Berdianer of 6877 N. 11th place, an artist, was foreman of the trial jury. John Weiser, Jr., one of the jurors, who refused to sign the verdict, made affidavit in connection with the application for a new trial, in which he declared Berdianer's remarks to fellow jurors had influenced them.

Weiser's affidavit quoted Berdianer as having said: "If Jews and foreigners would quit making these claims against the United Railways we would get back the 5-cent fare. The Jewry who represented Mrs. Reisman is a Jew, and happened to see the accident and managed to get the case. These Jews stick together and will testify to anything to help each other out."

Mrs. Reisman is a Jewess. Berdianer, when asked today for a statement, said: "Evidently there is some misapprehension. As near as I can recall there was no racial prejudice in that case. The man who made that affidavit, unfortunately, evidently has been working under an obsession, or he didn't hear very well. There was some talk in the jury room about people making claims not substantiated by facts, but absolutely no mention of Jews or foreigners. It's a son in the film past, but my recollection is the verdict was returned against the women because even her own Jew doctor brought out no facts to substantiate her claim."

Mrs. Reisman's suit against the United Railways was for the grant of the motion for a new trial.

Whether or not Sleep succeeded in getting the real story out of the $100,000 and the administration has given no sign that he did—the party leaders "on the Hill" are still floundering in a sea of doubt. Their attitude toward the investigation has radically changed.

When it was taken up here last fall, following the establishment, by Senator Kendrick and Senator La Follette, of the fact that the record of the Wyoming oil reserves had been negotiated by Fall in the spring of 1922, the Republican leaders were complacently confident that the inquiry would pass off harmlessly.

Walsh Digs a Little Deeper.

Early developments in the inquiry seemed to give ground for this expectation. But Senator Walsh kept digging and finally he began to strike pay dirt. It was Walsh's visit to Palm Beach to get more light on the $100,000 received by Fall from some source that altered the record as he presented it.

Walsh developed another version—that McLean gave checks for the amount to Fall and Fall returned the checks unused.

The discrepancy set off the Teapot Dome explosion that is still reverberating. Other Senators may grab the limelight, but Walsh did the spadework of the investigation, and did it conscientiously and intelligently, and he deserves the main credit for whatever benefit the public may derive from the exposures.

The one-time satisfied smugness of the Republican Senators, as they watched the painstaking but apparently fruitless delving by the Montana Senator, has given place to deep alarm. They take the attitude that the investigation must go on till the full truth becomes known, no matter who may be hurt. That, they feel, is the only attitude by which the force of the blow to the party's prestige may be lessened.

With troubled faces yesterday they heard Caraway, scorpion-tongued, castigate Fall as a "traitor"; they heard others demand the resignation of Denby; they heard the judicially minded Walsh declare that Daugherty, being suspected, should be allowed to have nothing to do with the proposed effort to get the oil reserves back into the hands of the people.

It was a sad, bad day for the Republican side of the chamber. Meantime they are hurrying back here to testify. It's an interesting cast of characters, with

COMPROMISE OF SUIT CONTESTING LEGACY FOR CATS

Action to Break Will of Mrs. Mary C. Todd, Giving $60,000 to Humane Society, Reported Settled.

The will contest suit, in which relatives of Mrs. Mary Caroline Todd sought to set aside her bequest of $60,000 to the St. Louis Humane Society for a shelter for cats, will be settled by a compromise, Charles M. Hay, of the counsel for the estate, announced today.

The case was tried once in Circuit Court, but the jury failed to agree June 14, last, and it was set for retrial. When it was called last Monday, both sides asked for a continuance with a view to compromise.

Hay would not disclose the details of the settlement, as they had not been ratified.

Mrs. Todd died in 1920 at Daytona Beach, Fla. She left the bulk of her estate to the Humane Society.

Her habits were eccentric, and she had an unusual affection for cats and other animals. She lived the life of a recluse for the last 10 years, dying at the age of 80.

The relatives contended that Mrs. Todd suffered from mental domination and was influenced by officers of the Humane Society, and by missionary directors of the Methodist Church, to which she belonged.

Litigation has materially reduced the estate, so that it is estimated there will not be more than $45,000 to divide.

is a good deal more to the story than has yet been told. Fall's conduct in the case has not yet been fully explained. So does the testimony of G. D. Wahlberg did not attempt to account for Roosevelt's recollection of the deal, which he got in the "checks" in the conversation about the cows, or dollars. And there are other pertinent mysteries to be solved, such as how an unsigned memorandum, seeking to put the Senate's investigation in a ridiculous light, got into the files of the investigating committee.

PHILIPPINE TROOPS BURN RELIGIOUS FANATICS' TOWN

Colonel Bowers Lands Detachment on Bucas Island Under Cover of Machine Gun Fire and Re-embarks.

MANILA, Jan. 24.—One constabulary soldier and two fanatics were killed in a clash on Bucas Island, off the coast of Mindanao, where members of the religious society of Colorum have been causing trouble, according to advices received here from Surigao.

The town of Socorro, where fanatics had entrenched themselves, has been burned by Col. Bowers, constabulary commander of Surigao, who believes that its destruction will result in collapse of the uprising.

Col. Bowers telegraphed today that he landed at Socorro with 100 men, under cover of machine gun fire from the gunboat Sacramento. He found the fanatics fortified and apparently prepared to hold the town. Their number recently was reported to be 600.

After burning the town, Col. Bowers took his force aboard the Sacramento.

Marie Bernarda Baltan, a Filipino woman, who claims to be the leader of the Colorums, reputed religious fanatics who recently killed 19 constabulary soldiers in outbreaks on Bucas Island, Surigao Province, has declared that her followers want peace and order and whenever trouble comes that they will always work with the champions of peace.

"We are constantly beset by enemies," she is quoted as saying. "All sorts of stories have been fabricated against me and my followers. We want justice in the islands and our order and church will always endeavor to preserve peace."

"I am credited with possessing supernatural powers. This is untrue. I do not deny that I know magic, but it is all a matter of faith and will. My followers believe that I have supernatural powers of healing, but in reality I only succeed in healing them because they have faith in what I am able to do."

The Colorums is regarded as a Christian sect.

points of special interest to Missourians. There is E. L. Doherty, campaign contributor to both parties in 1920, in whose interest Missourians carried a vice-presidential boomlet to San Francisco in 1920. Joe Shannon of Kansas City nursed the cause of the Colorums and previous appearance before the investigating committee Doherty said that he would be out of luck if he did not make $100,000,000 out of the lease of naval reserve No. 1 in California.

Then there is "Col. J. W. (Bill) Zevely, former Missourian, Harry Sinclair's attorney, known to the nation over as the man for whom the racehorse Zev was named.

There is also Fall, who is expected Friday.

And finally there is Sinclair, who got the Teapot Dome lease. He is in France, but has said he will come back to appear again before the committee.

The drama has just begun to unfold.

England's first Labor Premier gave lunch today to the country and his colleagues that he expected to give the British people a business-like administration and would look for punctuality on the part of his assistants in reporting for duty each day.

Soon after partaking of a light quick luncheon in the American Fashion yesterday, he called at the foreign office at about 2 p. m. in the expectation of seeing Marquis Curzon or Sir Eric Crowe, who in the foreign secretary's absence is the executive head of the department. But Lord Curzon had already given up the reins of state.

Accounts of Acts Attributed to the Late Pope Being Sought in Italian Churches.

ROME, Jan. 24.—The diocesan tribunal, constituted to prepare cause for the beatification of the late Pope Pius X, is already far advanced in its work. It has heard the testimony of Pius' two sisters and now is preparing to hear the cardinals. The tribunal will also conduct hearings in Venice, where the pontiff was patriarch, as well as at Trent, where he performed pastoral work.

Boxes will be placed in the churches to receive accounts of miraculous acts attributed to Pius.

PETER W. COLLINS OF BOSTON, IN-

Any breaking out or skin irrita-

Mentho-Sulphur heals eczema right

STIX, BAER & FULLER

GRAND-LEADER

Announce—Beginning Friday Morning at 9 o'Clock

ONE-DAY SALE~ Before Stock-Taking

 OUR customers are urged to be here early Friday morning in order to secure the full advantages this important selling occasion presents—Every department has taken groups of merchandise and placed on them selling prices which will insure their quick disposal.

This is the twice-a-year event prior to inventory, when we go through stocks, gather together broken lots, sample lines and odds and ends, and place upon the goods price tickets that are sure to dispose of them in quick order. Customers who are familiar with this occasion realize what wonderful bargains can be secured, and for that reason this sale attracts greater crowds than any event with the exception of our Anniversary Sale.

The very nature of the sale precludes detailed descriptions. To list the articles would be impossible, and, what is more important, would arouse a demand far beyond our ability to supply. For example, if we were to mention the groups of Dresses, Suits, Coats and Fur Garments which will be offered at ridiculous prices, the demand would be so great that customers who came after ten o'clock would be disappointed.

And, so, you must use your imagination and think of the items gathered here and there throughout the store, priced to insure their disposal within a day, and realize that on such an occasion unusual opportunities for buying will be found.

Every department in the store participates. You will be able to buy a Fur Coat at a ridiculously low price; Dresses in the Costume Room at reductions that are amazing; Shoes in the Downstairs Store at prices so trivial as to make the transaction appear almost ridiculous; and, of course, Shoes upstairs at important savings.

The Jewelry Store will sell novelties at extreme concessions. The departments of Yard Goods, Linens, Housewares, Men's and Boys' Clothing—in fact, every department—will have offerings of greatest interest.

Picture this store as a whole; visualize each department; go to the ones in which you are interested, look for merchandise displayed with the One-Day Sale Tags, and in every instance you will secure a value that is very much out of the ordinary.

We are adopting this selling method to clean up our stock, preferring to dispose of the goods in this way rather than invoice them. We are promising you rare bargain surprises everywhere in the store, and particularly urge the attendance of our regular customers, that they may fully share in these wonderful bargains.

The Sale Begins at 9 o'Clock

HAAS DENIES KNOWLEDGE OF ASSESSMENT ALTERATIONS

Asks That He Probably Will Pay
The Bill of $9810 City Will Present.

Samuel Haas of Clayton and Price roads, owner of a business property at the northeast corner of Twenty-third and Locust streets, on which apparently fraudulent assessment reductions aggregating $299,800 for the years 1919-1922, inclusive, have been found, today said he knew nothing about the reductions. He added that he would probably pay the bill of $9810 which the city is to present, representing the amount by which his tax bills for those years had been lowered.

Announcement that the records of assessments on this property had been found to have been altered was made at city hall Saturday. Haas, who has been in New York for a time, returned last night. Asked for a statement, he said: "I am innocent of any wrong. I don't know anything about the assessments or the reductions. I didn't know there was any reduction until I saw what had been in the newspapers last night. I never asked for a reduction, but always paid my bills as I received them. I can't explain this, but I'll probably pay the bill. I guess the records are all right."

Haas said, in reply to questions, that he never talked to anyone in the Assessor's office or to politicians about his assessment, in fact, knew no such persons. He was formerly president of the Samuel Haas Trimmings Co., 2325 Locust street, which formerly occupied part of the property for which the reductions were found.

OBSERVER FOR COUNTY JURY COMMISSION TO BE SOUGHT

Kirchner Says It Is Only Way to Protect Himself From Indirect
Criticism

The Prosecuting Attorney will be asked to have an observer at future sessions of the St. Louis County Jury Commission, Circuit Clerk Kirchner announced yesterday, remarking that was the only way to protect himself from indirect criticism by the grand jury.

Yesterday afternoon an assistant prosecuting attorney and a clerk sat with the commission, comprising the Circuit Clerk and two Circuit Judges, and each name chosen for Monday's panels, 118 men in each court, was taken down by the clerk. The last grand jury reported that there was opportunity for laxity in jury selection because most of the procedure was in the hands of one clerk.

JEWELRY ROBBERY BY WINDOW SMASHER

Negro Escapes With Display Valued at $2150—Four Holdups Reported.

A stone wrapped in a silk handkerchief shattered a display window of the Gallant Jewelry Co., 925 Franklin avenue, last evening, and a negro dashed westward a few seconds later. An inventory showed that a bracelet, bangle and pair of earrings, all diamond-set, and valued by the owners at $2150, had been taken from the window.

Three men, two of them armed, entered the Victor Restaurant, 1018 South Fourth street, at 2:30 a. m. today and held up the night manager, Meyer Hershton, and a few customers. They robbed Hershton of $25.

Robert A. Parker and Wesley Cope, manager and butcher, respectively, at a Kroger store at Clarence and Lee avenues, were on their way home last evening when two armed men forced them into an alley near 4378 Lee avenue. Cope resisted and was hit on the head. Carker was robbed of $70 and Cope of $48.

Alva Hopwood, 1501 Mallinckrodt avenue, had made a delivery of coal at 4115 North Broadway and collected $5.75 when two men robbed him of $22.75.

"Hands down" was the command given by two men who held up Louis Volson, 2623 Victor street, a chauffeur for Famous-Barr, and James Storck, 1215 Warren street, his helper, in front of 2019 John avenue, yesterday afternoon. From Volson $43 was taken.

Cites Big Population
Served by Court.

Two additional Judges are needed on the bench of the United States Circuit Court of Appeals for the Eighth Circuit, because the circuit, which includes St. Louis is the largest in the country, Presiding Judge Walter H. Sanborn stated here today. The comment was prompted by the appearance of Chief Justice Taft of the United States Supreme Court before the House Judiciary Committee of Congress yesterday to urge provision for appointment of two additional judges in the Eighth District.

This action was recommended last September at the Judicial Conference in Washington, attended by Chief Justice Taft and the presiding judges of the nine appellate circuits.

The Eighth Circuit, Judge Sanborn said, includes 13 States with a population of 18,487,000 persons. There are four judges on the bench. The Second (New York) Circuit has five judges, but the population is only 12,118,000. The present practice is to call Federal District Judges to sit on the appellate bench to assist in handling congested dockets.

DROPS BOXING INJUNCTION SUIT

Angelica Club Withdraws Application for Order Against Police.

The Angelica Physical Culture Club today withdrew its application for an injunction to restrain the police from interfering with its boxing shows. The Police Department had filed a return denying that the club was entitled to an injunction and alleging that the club was operating in violation of the law. In its motion for dismissal of the case, the club agreed to pay the costs of the action.

'King Benjamin' Purnell's Son Ill.
By The Associated Press.

BENTON HARBOR, Mich., Jan. 24.—The House of David remained silent today regarding the illness of Coy Purnell, only son of Benjamin, fugitive "King" of the colony. It has been found necessary to call in physicians from outside the colony. Purnell is said to be suffering from a malady which is complicated by pneumonia. State and County officers speculated on possibility that the infirming cult leader, charged with a statutory offense in connection with alleged "Religious rites" at "Shiloh," his colony home, might give himself up. The colony's faith does not recognize death.

The Wave Lasts a Week

Science has found a new liquid which seems to possess an almost magical power to make straight hair wonderfully wavy. Just a few drops are needed to make the hair fall in naturally silky curls and soft fluffy waves. You can use, of course, the old-fashioned kid or silk curlers or irons to shape and place the curls, but even the straightest hair will remain in curl for a week or ten days if you use this wonderful Domino Curlette to moisten the hair first. The results will amaze you.

NEW YORK GOVERNOR AGREES TO EXTRADITION OF BEYFUSS

Former Aid to Cabanne in Film Venture Wanted on Bad Check Charge in Kansas City.
Special to the Post-Dispatch.
NEW YORK, Jan. 24.—Gov. Smith has agreed to the extradition to Missouri of Alexander Beyfuss, who was manager of William Christy Cabanne's effort to establish a St. Louis movie producing concern, and who is charged in an affidavit filed in court in Kansas City with having passed $19,850 in bad checks there.
Beyfuss, who is 37 years old and lives at the Alterton Apartments, 45 East Fifty-fifth street, was arraigned Tuesday. He sought to delay the case unsuccessfully. A final decision as to his extradition has not been reached in court. Beyfuss, who described himself as "formerly associated with Cabanne," intimated that he might drop efforts to prevent his return to face the charge.
Beyfuss, it was learned here, went to Kansas City with letters of introduction to numerous prominent men, on the strength of which he was put up at the Kansas City Club. One of the men who introduced him there was Jack V. Keenan, general manager at Kansas City for the International Life Insurance Co. of St. Louis, who made the complaint against Beyfuss.

$175,000 LIGHT BILL REPORTED FAVORABLY

Will Provide for Electric Illumination of 28 Miles of City Streets.

An appropriation bill providing $175,000 for installation of electric street lights on 28 miles of city streets to be reconstructed this year, was reported out favorably yesterday by the Public Utilities Committee of the Board of Aldermen. It will be referred to the Board of Estimate and Apportionment for approval before being brought up for passage.

The appropriation will be drawn from the $5,000,000 bond issue for a city-wide electric street lighting system, included in the $57,372,500 public improvement bond issue authorized last February.

Early action on passage was urged by Director of Public Utilities Hooke, at a hearing yesterday. Hooke said at least 50 days would be required to get necessary supplies from the factory and unless the bill is passed at once work could not be started in the spring, as planned. The bill has been in the committee two months, while the Aldermen have been trying to decide what type of fixtures should be used.

Experimental Lights. Director Hooke plans to install on Chouteau avenue, east of Twelfth street, a number of experimental lights, including the type designed by Ralf Toensfeldt, electrical engineer in the Department of Public Utilities, and designs submitted by The General Electric Co., and Westinghouse Electric Manufacturing Co. Use of the Toensfeldt design, on the basis of both economy and excellence of design, was recommended to the committee by William Ramsey, who was chief engineer of the Bureau of Illumination of Milwaukee, when that city in 1916 installed a $2,500,000 street lighting system.

Two other lighting bills were reported out favorably. One enables districts to obtain immediate installation of electric lights without waiting for bond issue appropriations, by advancing the cost to the city. Reimbursement will be made when the bond appropriations are approved. The other would permit business organizations to have installed "white ways," or lighting systems of greater illuminating intensity than that designed for street requirements, by paying the city for the extra installation cost and the additional current used beyond the average requirements.

Condemnation Bill. A favorable report was made on a bill directing condemnation of 26 acres of land in St. Louis County, to provide a right of way two and a half miles long and 134 feet wide, for a road from the Rock Island Railroad tracks to the site of the new city waterworks to be built at Howard's Bend of the Missouri River.

The committee recommended a public hearing be held next week by the Board of Aldermen, as a committee of the whole, on a bill revising the city electrical code. This bill had been pending in committee and in the board for 18 months.

Big and Little Bankers Deplore Stabilization of the Mark—Depressing Effect on Speculation Hits Their Business.

EVERYTHING is going so unexpectedly better than last week—but post-war Europe is not to look ahead.
In reply to my question: "How long will it be before the mark is stabilized?"
"What will happen when the rearmament gets going?"
Again they shrug their shoulders.
"At present it is better," they answer, "and it is still better than it was before the war." But still they say that the mark is not yet stabilized. And just because life is ever so little better and less complicated, and because the shadow of civil war is lifted, people are content to manage as they can uncomplainingly. I refer to the so-called bourgeois people.
But there exists a tribe of pessimists, people who have to look ahead and for whom no fatalism prevails. These are the bankers. The bankers are of two kinds—the big bankers and the little bankers. The big bankers (I mean the directors of big banks) fear the depreciation of the mark. The little bankers (or directors of small banks) fear the depreciation of the mark. The big bankers are content to manage as they can uncomplainingly. I refer to the so-called bourgeois people.

The name of one man is uppermost in the speculative mind today. His name is Schacht, and he is the big banker. People attribute the new currency stabilization to his genius. His enemies say he is a man who has no gain in view except his reputation. The bankers in general hate his name. He is in fear of being poisoned. He should become president of the State Bank, but members of the extreme right are loud in their demands for Hitler. Hitler has added the finance of the war to his list of tasks.

NEED TO CONFER WITH HIS POLITICAL SCOUTS

Supporters Expected to Advise Senator to Enter Race for Presidency.

Political scouts of Senator Reed, who have been sounding out sentiment in rural districts of Missouri, whether it is possible for Reed to win the Missouri delegation for Democratic nomination for the presidency, will report to the Senator in St. Louis, Saturday.
Persons close within the Reed camp say that on these reports the Senator will make his decision. It is that he will seek the nomination.
With few exceptions, apparently, the Reed supporters called in will be ready to urge him to become an active candidate.
Reed's last night in Kansas City dispatch from Kansas City says that one of the Reed men there is going down to St. Louis to advise the chief and there isn't one who would dare advise him to run.
Those Likely to Attend. While there has been no announcement of the names of those who will attend the conference, it is expected that among them will be Bennett C. Clark of St. Louis, James Jackson of Mexico, Roy McKittrick of Salisbury, Ed Glenn of Kansas, Harry Alexander of Indiana, Joe Guardado, O. W. Hackworth of Piedmont, Joe Goldman of Jefferson City and Harry Terry of St. Louis. As the conference is only a few days in advance of the meeting of the Democratic State Committee, many of the Reed members of the committee probably will attend.
So far as has been disclosed no names have been asked to be at the meeting.
Exclusive dispatches to the Post-Dispatch from Washington 10 days ago stated the Senator intended to leave the race within a very short time. A few days after that the announcement that his name would be entered in the primary was made.
It is said in detail in the Post-Dispatch last Tuesday, the State Committee meeting will afford the test of strength between Reed and the other candidates.
The fact that he has not yet announced his intention to run is significant of an intention to determine the details of the campaign before he enters the race. Reed's advantage in the selection of delegates and in the State primary, it is expected, will be a factor in his decision.

MEASURE INTRODUCED BY SENATOR REED

Measure Introduced by Senator Reed to Abolish the King George V Foundation.

The measure of King George V abolishes the King George V Foundation. The King George V Foundation was established by the King of England in 1917. It was a charitable organization that provided financial aid to the families of British soldiers who had died in the war. The measure introduced by Senator Reed would abolish this foundation. The measure was introduced in the Senate on January 22, 1935. It was passed by a vote of 74 to 16. The measure was signed into law by President Roosevelt on January 24, 1935. The measure will take effect on January 1, 1936. The measure will save the government approximately $1,000,000 per year. The measure will also eliminate the need for the government to provide financial aid to the families of British soldiers who had died in the war. Cut in Surtax Is Vital to Prosperity—Senator
Jones Assails G. O. P.
Bill.By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Jan. 24.—The Mellon tax plan for the first time was debated today on the floor of both the Senate and House.Representative Garner, Democrat, Texas, who is endeavoring to substitute a measure for the Treasury bill, engaged in an exchange with Representative Mills, Republican, New York, member of the House Ways and Means Committee, who made a 40-minute prepared speech for the Mellon plan.In the Senate the Garner plan was presented by Senator Jones, Democrat, New Mexico, who furnished tables to show its effects on various classes of taxpayers.The great Secretary said the Garner plan is insincere," said Senator Jones, apparently because of the importance given to small incomes. Mr. Mellon probably has so long dealt with large incomes that he cannot see the others."Mills declared the reduction of surtax was vital to the prosperity of the nation, and asserted the Democratic plan on surtaxes would limit tax reduction to the small income taxpayers at the expense of the entire population.Jibes at the Republicans.
Garner poked fun at President Coolidge, Secretary Mellon and various Republican leaders."Uncle Andy sent a tax bill to the House," he declared, "with word to the Republican leaders, 'Here's the bill, you must not touch it.'"
And Cal said, 'Me, too.'""You've got to do what the President tells you to do in this Congress," continued Garner, addressing his remarks to the Republicans. "If you don't stand by Uncle Andy you won't have enough money to run the campaign in one county in Pennsylvania. He's boss now."Garner predicted that President Coolidge would sign any tax-reduction bill passed by Congress, regardless of his stand against basic changes in the Mellon draft."If we send him the Democratic plan without changing a single figure," he added, "the world's day-after tomorrow will be a day of
it. It reduces taxes and the country wants lower taxes."Criticism House Leaders.
Garner criticized Representative Lodge, worth of the Treasury, in leader, and Chairman Green of the Ways and Means Committee, for not "rebuilding the Secretary of the Treasury and the President, too," for the way in which they have insisted on the Treasury bill intact.Pointing out that in 1921 various Republican leaders, among them Green, voted for a surtax maximum of 50 per cent rather than 25 per cent, Garner asked the Republicans if they were willing now to support the Mellon 25 per cent maximum, "contrary to what you did then.""As a matter of fact," he continued, "we Democrats haven't any conclusive argument for reducing the surtaxes at all."Garner insisted that if the tax revision were left to a vote of the House, the Mellon bill would be defeeted.After the Texas Representative had surrendered the floor, Chairman Green told the House that in his half-hour talk, Garner had failed to present a single argument.Mellon Against Compromise.
In the face of compromise proposals by House Republicans, Secretary Mellon informed callers today that he saw no reason for a compromise on the Treasury tax plan and that he could not withdraw from the position he has taken relative to reduction of the higher brackets of surtaxes.The Secretary feels, however, that it is a question entirely for Congress to decide.He saw Representative Watson

Committee today and said he made changed.Obstruction Charges Filled at Row

Labor Cabinet that now rules England, is shown

BERGMANN ABOUT EXPORTED CAPITALCommittee, Headed by Mc-Kenna, to Visit Berlin to Investigate Funds Sent Out of Germany.By the Associated Press.
PARIS, Jan. 24.—The second committee of experts investigating Germany's financial and economic situation yesterday had before it Karl Bergmann, former Undersecretary of the German Treasury, who answered questions with regard to the exportation of capital from Germany.This committee, which is headed by Reginald McKenna, former Chancellor of the British Exchequer, announced in an official communique at the end of the day's session that it purported to go to Berlin soon to continue its investigations at the German capital.The communication said:
"The Committee on Evasion of Capital has made a close preliminary survey of the problems submitted for its examination and interviewed Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, president of the Reichsbank, and Karl Bergmann, on the general lines on which a practical investigation can be pursued in Germany.
It will meet again in Berlin Thursday, Jan. 31."Meantime, it will be necessary for the secretariat of the committee working in Paris, to prepare a considerable amount of statistical information which the committee feels will be necessary for further pursuit of its labors."Gold Bank Plan's Features.
The first committee, headed by Brig-Gen. Charles G. Dawes, was engaged today in a continuation of consideration of plans for the formation of a gold bank in Germany.
The essential features for the German gold bank designed by the experts have been taken from a plan proposed by Dawes and Owen D. Young, the American unofficial representatives. The plan is to draw into the service of the new bank gold, or the equivalent in foreign monies, now in Germany, and also a portion of the German deposits abroad. Dr. Schacht, it is understood, characterizes the value of foreign currencies now in private hands in Germany at one billion gold marks.The purpose of the committee of experts is to mobilize these non-producing monies into the public service and to induce German funds outside the country to return by offering them adequate guarantees for the safety of the capital and profitable dividends. The method of winning this capital to the bank will take the form of issuing bearer shares, probably by banks abroad, or under conditions at home by which no foreclosure of ownership would be possible.
Anonymity of capital would be fully respected and safeguarded.To Get at Hidden Funds.

—SECRETARY HUGHESIn New York Speech He Defends Administration Policy as "Greatest Contribution Within Our Power" to World Peace.By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Jan. 24.—The policy of the Coolidge administration in dealing with the Mexican revolutionary movement was described by Secretary Hughes in an address here last night as "the greatest contribution directly within our power and in accord with our established traditions and manifest interest to the cause of world peace.""This hemisphere should be the exemplar of peace," Mr. Hughes said, "and we look with confidence to the creation of a unity of sentiment of the American republics against the brutal arbitrariness of force in political controversies. To this end the United States gladly gives its co-operation."Speaking under the title, "Recent Questions and Negotiations," before a meeting of the Council on Foreign Relations, Mr. Hughes outlined the purposes of the liquor treaty with Great Britain, and explained why the administration considered it necessary to give up extraterritorial rights in negotiating the new treaty with Turkey.The Secretary's discussion of Mexico was prefaced by a recital of the steps that led to the signing of the two claims convention after which the Obregon Government was accorded diplomatic recognition.Purpose of Revolt.
"After this happy result had been achieved," he continued, "and we were looking forward toward a period of quiet and opportunity to advantage to both peoples, suddenly there was an attempt to overthrow the established Government of Mexico by violence. It is plain that the purpose of those engaged in this enterprise of arms is simply to determine by forcible measures the successor to Obregon."It is not a revolution in the sense of the aspirations of an oppressed people; it is a matter of personal politics. It is an effort to seize the presidency. It means a subversion of all constitutional and orderly procedure. The contestants, seeking to overthrow the established Government, have taken possession of certain portions of the Mexican territory and either are claiming tribute from peaceful and legitimate American commerce, or are attempting to obstruct Egyptian commerce."Mr. Hughes then touched on the request of the Mexican Government to purchase arms and ammunition from the United States. To refrain, he said, would have been to turn a cold shoulder to the Government recently restored to the friendly relations, and "would, in fact, have given powerful encouragement to the forces which are trying to obtain the reins of the Government by force.""No Invasion of Sovereignty."
By that course, he said, the Washington Government would have "incurred a grave responsibility for consequent disturbances," while granting the request for arms involved "no question of intervention, no invasion of the sovereignty of Mexico."He added that the sale involved no departure from President Harding's policy as to the sale of arms,
which, he said, in no way precluded furnishing arms "to aid in the putting down of insurrectionary attacks upon public order in a neighboring state, whose peaceful development is especially important to us."Referring to the constitutionality of the new liquor treaty with Great Britain, the Secretary said the administration had no intention of violating constitutional provisions.
The purpose is to facilitate their enforcement," he said. "I know there are some who have expressed doubt whether such an international agreement can be made under our Constitution. This doubt
I do not now see."Defends Turkish Treaty.
In negotiating the treaty with Turkey, he continued, the United States was faced with the necessity of giving up the long-standing "cap-tulations" or else having no treaty at all and no protection for American interests in that country.
"Under these circumstances," he said, "the only practicable course was to negotiate a treaty as with a fully sovereign state. If such a treaty falls short of expectations, especially in that it acquiesces in the abrogation of the capitulations, it should not be forgotten that the only way to maintain the capitula-tions was to fight for them."At no stage in the negotiations was the American position determined by the so-called Chinese concession. This had been granted before negotiation of our treaty with Turkey had begun. This commitment, he said, was a movement in the Government made no barter of any of its rights for this or any other concession."Mr. Hughes touched briefly on the negotiations respecting mandated territories, the recently announced American financial commission to Paris and the recognition of the Egyptian Government. With relation to Greece, he said, the situation had now "materially changed there and that it was hoped the elections held last December would result in a Government that would enable the establishment of a Government to extend formal recognition."Official Condemns Pinchot Pennsylvania's Treasurer to Fight
Governor for G. O. P. Delegation.By the Associated Press.
HARRISBURG, Pa., Jan. 24.—
State Treasurer Charles A. Snyder announced today he would oppose Gov. Pinchot as one of the seven delegates-at-large to the Republican National Convention in Philadelphia, and would appeal to all Pennsylvanians to defeat him at the polls.His reasons for the opposition are that the Governor "is not a Pennsylvanian in spirit," that he is not a "Republican," that as "Governor of the commonwealth he was cast into office, through a political storm," and that in the convention, if elected, he "will bring into that forum an intrigue and a bloc such as will reflect only indifferently upon the workmen of the Commonwealth."Snyder declared that of 20 Governors, Pinchot is the only one
"neither born nor reared" in Pen-sylvania, and that his criticism of President Coolidge and Secretary Mellon "shows that now he has no national Republican affiliation."After asserting that the Governor "has been unfaithful to every political trust and to his chiefs, he declared that "while serving under Taft he was 'boring from within.'"Italian Election April 6 Likely.

St. Louis a Great Medical Center.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

HERE is something peculiar in the psychology of some St. Louisans which prompts them to belittle home talent.
 Whether it is simply modesty or the lack of self-confidence in ourselves and our fellow men is difficult to say. The case in point is that of one of our newspapers which, after having advertised St. Louis as a place where diplomats may be had for a few dollars, broadcasts all over the continent that a child is compelled to be taken to Philadelphia to have a tack removed from its windpipe.

How long will it be before St. Louisans will realize that they live in one of the greatest medical centers? Many of our medical men are known all over the world and delegations arrive here frequently from all corners of the earth to inspect our wonderful medical equipment and research laboratories. Yet, a certain railroad advertises through train service to another medical center because many St. Louisans seem to have more confidence in surgeons whom they do not have the honor to know personally. This is a matter of concern not only to the St.
 Louis medical profession, but to the city generally. Patients and their relatives patronize not only the doctor, but the shops as well, and to advertise our remarkable medical facilities is only another boost for our metropolis.

As concerns removing tacks, safety pins, jacks and other hardware from the windpipes of children, this is a proceed-ure which is practiced right along here in St. Louis by a number of men. If there was no visiting physician on duty at the city hospital at the time who is familiar with this work, the same ambulance which conveyed the child to the station might have conveyed it to some other hospital. It is a pity that such would have been performed without cost to anyone. Some local surgeon would have extracted the tack, thrown it into the waste basket, and with typical St.
 Louis modesty, would have made about it. However, this would have made no sensational "copy". R. E. W.

As to Ku Klux Threats.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.
 REFERRING to the communication of the "100 Per Cent Disabled American Veteran of the World War" in which he predicts a "different war" and of his apparent readiness to enter such a fray, beg leave to state that, according to my opinion, his utterances are traitorous, for in one breath he swears by the colors and at the same time strikes at one of the fundamental principles of the Constitution.

As to the valiant service rendered for his country, I might here state that all the male relatives in my family of military age and qualifications, from my grandfather on down, served their country on the field of battle, as volunteers, and none came out unscathed. My grandfather fought in the Civil War and Indian campaigns, my uncle was in every engagement Uncle Sam has had within the past 35 years (Boxer Uprising, Cuban and Philippine campaigns, Mexican campaign and World War) and my brother was a member of the Marines, being wounded at Chateau Thierry.

The two latter have sufficiently recovered to enable them to give a good account of themselves should Uncle Sam ever need them services again. In order to stamp out just such a rebellion as this writer suggests.

ANNA F. CARTER.

Bonus as a Moral Question.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.
 SENATOR SPENCER's recent letter regarding the soldier bonus contained a phrase that has become a favorite one with politicians, who see voting possibilities in the soldier bonus question. This phrase is that the "claims of the ex-service men must not be ignored."

The writer has talked to a great many ex-service men in various parts of the country about this question of a soldier bonus. He has found that of the ones to whom he has talked probably not over 10 per cent feel that the Government owes them another cent. This is, of course, excepting disabled veterans.
 The just claims of ex-service men undoubtedly exists only in the imaginations of politicians.

I believe most ex-service men feel, as do most of the best minds in this country, that the granting of additional moneys to citizens who have only performed the just duties of citizenship is wrong, and not necessarily from the economic point of view, but primarily from the point of view of public morals.
 The whole question is morally wrong and should be defeated on that platform.
 AN EX-SERVICE MAN.

OUR CLOAK OF RIGHTEOUSNESS.

The attempt of Secretary Hughes to justify interference in Mexico to maintain the Oregon Government and put down the revolution to overthrow it is one of the finest examples of imperialistic sophistry in history.

"This hemisphere should be the exemplar of peace," he said, "and we look with confidence to the creation of a unity of sentiment of the American republics against resort to the brutal arbitrament of force in political controversies. To this end the United States gladly gives its co-operation." Referring to the happy results obtained by the two claims treaties, which he says were of advantage to both peoples, he says there was an attempt to overthrow the established Government of Mexico by violence. "It is not a revolution instinct with the aspirations of an oppressed people. It is a matter of personal politics. It is an effort to seize the presidency. It means a subversion of all constitutional and orderly procedure."

Mr. Hughes goes farther, and makes it appear that if the United States had not helped Oregon it would have "incurred a grave responsibility for consequent disturbances."

In short, we assume to judge whether the Mexican people have a good Government, satisfactory to them, and whether a revolution in Mexico is justified or not, and plead our responsibility for the maintenance of order in Mexico by the suppression of revolution on the part of the Mexican people.
 Let it be noted, however, that our exercise of judgment as to whether the Government of Mexico is good or bad and whether a revolution is justified or not, is based upon our own interest in the stability of the Government which happens to be in power.

Let it not be forgotten that we fomented and organized a revolution in Colombia when a revolution served our purpose, in connection with the Panama Canal.

The words of Mr. Hughes would have fitted admirably in the mouth of Metetrich when he utilized the Holy Alliance to put down all revolution and agitation in Europe, in order that there might be peace in Europe and stability for the governments of the monarchs whose interest he served.
 Violence is not confined to revolutionists; it is frequently used by established governments to maintain their power and to determine succession, even in republics, regardless of the will of the people.
 This sort of violence is not uncommon in our hemisphere among our Latin neighbors to the south, and it is one of the accusations against Oregon. Mr. Hughes takes no account of this use of force.

Is it any wonder that the leaders of public opinion in Central and South America are talking of our twisting the Monroe Doctrine to serve our own ends by establishing the hegemony of the United States in this hemisphere? Is it any wonder that they are fomenting distrust of our purposes? Is it any wonder that voices everywhere outside of the United States are speaking with scorn of "American hypocrisy," which covers the promotion of our own interests with the cloak of righteousness?

The man who cries "Catch thief!" with his hand in another man's pocket, cannot hope to establish a reputation as an exemplar of righteousness and order.

THE BOK INQUISITION.

Something must be done about this man Bok.
 He is a good deal more dangerous than the Senators suspected, and heaven knows the Senators did a pretty complete job of suspecting in this case.
 Bok knew that, too. But did it unnerve him? Was he ill at ease, or fidgety, or guiltily self-conscious when he appeared before the board of inquisition?
 Did he tremble at Reed's jocular glare? Was he confused by the indolent levity of Moses? Did he fret under Caraway's corkscrew questioning? Did he topple over in a dead faint when flailed by Greene's wrath?

The desperate truth might as well be told now as later. He was not awed. He wasn't even fussed.
 He was as smiling as a breeze, as unembarrassed as a hard-boiled egg. Such effrontery probably astounded the Senators. It certainly played havoc with their plan of putting a cowering culprit on the griddle and chortling at his screams of pain.

Whatever unhappiness there was at the hearing
 the Senators, not the witness, experienced it.
 After all, though, what could be expected of a wretch who frankly wants to plunge the whole blooming world into a basin of peace and keep it there forever! If Bok had his way humanity would never again go through the agony and devastation and serried death of war. Such villainy and such a villain seem to be too much for our Senators to comprehend, to say nothing about chastising.

Yes, something must be done about this man
 Bok, but the Senators, evidently, are not the chaps
 to do it; they emerged from the first encounter, bleeding, as the poet remarked, at every pore.

LENINE IN HISTORY.

Nikolai Lenine is assured of a permanent place in history, but, probably, an episodic place despite the experiment's pretentiousness and ruthlessness. The Erostratus who was to fire the Ephesian dome of capitalism did not pull off the carrying the Marxian philosophy to its logical conclusion is a failure, acknowledged to be such by its sponsor and from which, in his own phrase, he conducted a "strategic retreat." The communistic state he launched on assuming power is about as dead as the czarism of the Romanoffs.

History will record that the Lenine dream was not shattered by the forces of capitalism, in which account it will make proper award to the extraordinary military genius of Trotsky, whose sun has also set. The human nature of the Russian peasant was the rock on which communism split. An enthusiastic believer in confiscation when he was to be the beneficiary, the peasant rebelled when it came to surrendering his own goods for the altruistic ideal of the common welfare.

There endeth the Lenine Utopia. The dictatorship that broke aristocracy and bourgeoisie met its downfall in the peasant's elemental determination to keep the fruits of his own labor. Thus it is that the hated institution of property which communism set out to destroy has emerged from the welter more secure than before—a thing that roots down into the instincts.

It has been an appalling adventure, this Lenine madness, from its blood-red dawn to its night of destitution, degradation and despair. It is one of the grisliest tragedies in human experience.
 But perhaps that was the Pentecostal price which Russia had to pay for its centuries of social, political and economic brutality. Freed from czarism the Russian people still have a despotism to dethrone. The task is still theirs to establish and maintain a government that professes and practices
 a decent respect for the opinion of mankind—a government that safeguards the individual initiative, capacity and personal responsibility of its citizens.

Pride goeth before, but Attorney-General Daugherty is in no hurry to go after a Fall.

INCOMPETENT BANK SUPERVISION.

There were 19 bank failures in Missouri in 1922.
 There were 28 last year. That is a bad record. The latest failure—that of the Holland Bank at Springfield—emphasizes the fact that the State must make better arrangements to protect its depositors and safeguard its business interests.

Public confidence cannot withstand many more such shocks. The Holland Bank failure, it seems, was due to bad loans, not to any betrayal of trust.
 But in several failures dishonesty was notorious.
 A conspicuous case in point was the Night and Day Bank in St. Louis. More recently the failure of the Chippewa Bank of this city was the result of protracted mismanagement which seemingly any capable system of supervision would have detected.
 The inadequacy of the State Finance Department in this vital matter of supervision is disclosed by the fact that the department had no knowledge that anything was wrong in either instance until its attention was called to conditions by officials of the banks.

State Finance Commissioner Millsbaugh admits this inadequacy, and charges it to the niggardly policy of the Legislature, which authorizes the employment of only 26 examiners and assistants to examine the 1500 banks and 250 building and loan associations in the State. The maximum salary allowed is $200 a month, which, of course, makes it impossible for the State to procure the services of first class men.

This pennywise policy is penny wise and pound foolish. The State should employ competent men and enough of them to do this work thoroughly.
 Confidence in the banks is indispensable and so is confidence in the capacity of the State's bank examining bureau; the latter has a record of proved incompetence.

The celebrated Dr. Mayo says we can at last ask people to drink water in America, because our water supply is good. Is there any assurance that if we learn to like it someone who doesn't agree with him will have it taken away from us? We don't care to have this experience again.

LEAP YEAR.
"DEAR MOTHER," said a pretty maid,
 "Why are the men so shy?
 Why do they wear that frightened look?
 O mother, tell me why."

"My child," the mother then replied,
 "The epidemic comes
 In periods of four years each.
 When men turn down their thumbs."

"Your finger on a Chesterfield
 You place. And want him, too.
 But, like a flea, he hops about.
 Then disappears from view."

"If you should flirt or compliment,
 Or inadvertently
 Should place your hand upon his arm, He's frightened as can be."

"But never mind, my little girl.
 The season brown and ere
 Has just eleven months to run.
 Then vanishes Leap Year."

L. JOE ALBERT.

One reason why science is not popular is that it makes us too frequently feel as if we were so many boobies. It asks us now to disbelieve in the equinoctial storm, having ascertained by investigation of the record over a period of years that there is no such thing. Happily, with so many things constantly hurled at us by modern facilities for getting the news about, we do not talk of the weather as much as we did and can accept the news without very great protest. Here in St. Louis probably the last man who would have resisted it was the late Rev. Irl Hicks, whose almanac was a handy compendium of misinformation.
 It would have been another matter not so many years ago, though, of course science never considers at making a pronouncement if the time is a good or a bad
 one. It blurs out whatever it finds, letting him wall who will. This has gained for science a reputation for courage, but not for diplomacy. Perhaps its chief audacity was to announce evolution before the world was ready for it. That was a perfectly foolhardy thing, and if science has been chased out of some of the states of our Union for doing it the blame rests wholly upon itself. Solomon said there was a time for all things; but Solomon was a philosopher, not a scientist.

Somehow the Briton always lands on his feet. He maintained for centuries the most vicious land policy in history. Before the recent land reforms one-half the cultivated land of England belonged to 150 people, and one-half that of Scotland to 75 people.
 "To her laboring classes who gave the spelling book and the ballot," says the historian, Campbell, who goes on to predict that "One of these days England may awake to reap the whirlwind. She is now the only European nation, and perhaps the only civilized society in existence, in which the bulk of the land under cultivation is not owned by small proprietors." It would be hard to say that what has happened is a whirlwind.
 Where Russia exploded like a bomb, and France went up like a skyrocket, disinterested England, her book in hand, rises merely with the politeness of culture and says through her spokesman, the erudite Ramsay MacDonald: "The country can trust us; there is nothing to fear." Can you beat it?

Sir: People are funny. I asked a man yesterday if he had ever seen Bascom Slomp, and he replied that he hadn't been to a comic opera for years.

There's a chance for Jamie to revive something in the nature of his classic operatic operatic. BLIMP.

Did Dr. Cone feel any better this morning in the smoke?

Now that the transcendental courage of Lenine has passed, to be classed at length with what Horatius did at the bridge and Leonidas at the pass, perhaps we can look about us and discover that other Russians are also doing courageous things. We are quite sure that this is the case in St. Louis, for we have on our desk the second number of The Nucleus, a local art publication of which the editor and publisher is our sometimes contributor, V. Boris Sheremetyeff.
 Whether the people of St. Louis would support anything quite so fine as The Nucleus is in context and illustration one can easily doubt. It will take a Russian with the stuff of Lenine and Sheremetyeff to find out. We hope they do. There is some hope to be found in the fact that in the arts no other community is so contradictory as our own.
 Henry Adams, observing the barrenness of our streets and the plainness of our architecture, said we had no soul; yet our art museum, one of the best in the country, is supported by popular taxation, where most museums are on the community chest list.
 We dislike anything artistic in the theater, yet we maintain a symphony orchestra and lend it to the cities about us for spiritual refreshment. We have fewer homes with art in them than any other large city in the country, and as an art-loving and art-buying people we run last in any imaginable competition; yet it was from St. Louis chiefly this inspiration and effort came to make the Missouri capitol the most beautifully decorated building in America—a veritable shrine of art in the years to come. If we contradict ourselves in the matter of art publications in the way we have done in so many things pertaining to art, M. Sher-emetyeff will make it all hunkadory.

ZONA GALE'S NEW PLAY TRUE TO REALITIES

"Mister Pitt" Is a Study of Man, Whose Silences
 Are Eloquent.

By REYWOOD BROWN,
 Drama Critic of the New York World.

NEW YORK, Jan. 24.—Zona Gale is almost wholly exceptional among American playwrights because she knows life far more intimately than she knows the theater.
 She brings the stage back to earth again, for her studies are made at first hand and have nothing to do with some twist or turn which was tried out and worked well in the playhouse around the corner the season before last.
 Technically "Mister Pitt" is more ambitious than "Miss Lulu Bett." The interludes carried on by the village gossip are devices which possibly could be traced back as far as Greece itself. The method is experimental and it seems to us successful.

But entirely aside from the technical scheme of the play the story of "Mr. Pitt" is profoundly simple.
 It is a moving and appealing story of inarticulate man. At such times as Mr. Pitt is not selling Gold Strap food products he is almost wholly at a loss for words. And yet Miss Gale has managed to make his strained and uncomfortable silences eloquent.

Moreover, the creation of the surroundings has been faithfully developed by the actor, Walter Huston given a beautiful performance as Mr.
 Pitt.

CITY HOSPITAL WILL HAVE 12 X-RAY SETS

With Radium Equipment It Will Have One of Best Laboratories of Kind.

St. Louis is to have one of the most complete X-ray and radium laboratories in the United States when the department is opened at city hospital next spring.

"That was the unanimous opinion of doctors attending the congress of the American College of Surgeons here last week," Dr. Eugene A. Scharff, superintendent of the hospital said. "Many of the more prominent surgeons attending the congress visited the hospital, and when the scope of our new department was outlined to them, all agreed that we were installing one of the most complete X-ray and radium laboratories in the country."

The new laboratory will be in the reconstructed receiving room. The remodeling is well under way, and Dr. Scharff hopes to open the new department in March.

Special Walls to Confine Rays

It will contain 21 rooms equipped with 12 sets of X-ray apparatus and a radium emanating machine. The X-ray department will include two rooms fitted with fluoroscopic or surveillance tables. One of these will be devoted exclusively to the setting of fractures under the fluoroscope, by means of which the surgeon may view the progress of his work as he performs it, instead of relying on X-ray plates taken before and after the setting. The second surveillance table will be used for watching injections and probing of internal organs.

The walls of these two rooms are being covered with barium plaster to prevent the escape of the rays and the possibility of resultant ill-effects on patients in adjoining rooms.

Other rooms in the X-ray section will be devoted to the taking and developing of X-ray plates, the examination of injuries requiring emergency treatment, such as fractured skulls and bullet wounds, and the more ordinary X-ray practice.

How Radium Is Used.

The remainder of the laboratory will be given over to the radium emanation process and treatment of malignant diseases with radium. Radium emanation as outlined by Dr. Scharff is as follows:

Five hundred and forty-five milligrams of radium salts, which cost the city $23,975, will be dissolved in water and locked in a wall vault. A vacuum will be formed in the top of an especially constructed flask holding the radium and the accumulating gas will be pumped off daily by mercury pumps through a tube in wall vault. Radium spontaneously gives off small particles which form the gas. By a special arrangement necessary water may be added to the solution and since radium does not decay to half value in less than 1500 years, it is hardly possible that the persons placing the precious solution in the vault ever will see it again.

Although radium never ceases giving off gas, the daily gas accumulation from the amount purchased by the city can be placed in a tube a quarter of an inch long and no thicker than an ordinary toothpick. Unlike the radium salts, however, the gas loses one-sixth its original value every day. This makes the gas more desirable for ordinary purposes than the salt.

Radium Gas Used.

A tube of radium gas is placed in a growth to be destroyed and can be "forgotten." Although of equal strength to the salt when fresh, it's gradual decrease in strength leaves it "lifeless" in a week. This prevents injury to the patient such as would occur if a similar amount of radium salt were allowed to remain in tissue an equal time.

The emanation process in the new laboratory is the first to be installed in St. Louis. This phase of the new laboratory will be in charge of Dr. LeRoy Sentz, chief city radiologist. The X-ray section will be under the supervision of Charles Anderson, an X-ray technician.

Warns Not to Expect Too Much.

Dr. Scharff said he hoped for greater efficiency in the treatment of cancer and other diseases susceptible to the influence of radium.

However people must form no false ideas of radium's powers," he said. "We expect to do a great deal, but it must be through the combined efforts of radium, X-ray and surgery. True, radium has been found of great help in the treatment of cancer, but cancer does not literally melt away by radium. Other things are necessary to effect a cure, and we cannot hope to effect an immediate cure of cancer by the mere injection of a tube or two of radium gas."

The purchase price of the radium and the cost of constructing and equipping the laboratory will total $88,000, part of the $1,000,000 provided for improvements at the hospital by the bond issue.

What transpired in the early hours of June 16 last, when Seld Alloway, a confectioner, and his wife, Helen, were shot to death in their room at 1923 Hickory street, was partially described yesterday when Hammie Shane, the man's cousin, who was in the flat adjoining room, made his first statement since he was arrested immediately after the shooting.

Shane testified in his own defense, in his trial for first degree murder in Circuit Judge Hamilton's court.
 He testified he had been asleep
 a short time, when he was awakened by several shots. Then he recalled that his cousin kept large sums of money in the house. Suddenly the folding doors, connecting the rooms, were parted, and his cousin's wife ran in, exclaiming:
 "Oh, Hammie, Seld is shot." As he sprang out of bed, he said, she made for a closet, in which he kept his revolver. As she turned from the closet, with the revolver in hand, he testified, he grabbed her by the wrists, and they struggled.

Says Wife Told of Killing.
 "I killed him, I kill you, too," he testified the woman cried when there were two shots, and Shane could remember little more.

Mrs. Ida Vogel, her son, Charles, and daughter, Hilda, who occupied the rear rooms of the house, testified to being awakened by the shots, which they said were heard with a pause between the first five or six shots and then the last two, and later to Shane's knocking at their door and crying out, "My poor cousin is shot."

Lieut. James Moran, first of the police to arrive, testified that as he reached the premises a man, clad in a night shirt, ran up to him, and exclaimed, "My cousin is shot." Someone threw a key out of an upper story window, and Moran opened the door, and entered, accompanied by Shane.

Two Revolvers Found.
 Lieutenant Moran testified he found Alloway dead in bed, several shots having been fired into his body and into the pillow. On the floor lay the wife, dead, and in Shane's room was a large pool of blood. There was a revolver on the floor, and another in Shane's room, and a number of empty cartridges were found in the rooms and in the bathroom.

He said when the police began to question Shane he became excited, and was "seized" with an epileptic fit, becoming so violent the police had to restrain him.
 Further search of the house revealed nearly $2000 in currency.

As was told at the time of the shootings, Alloway and his wife had been married about a year. He was of Turkish nationality. He conducted a soft drink and confectionery store at Mississippi avenue and Hickory street, and Shane worked as a clerk. Shane saw military service, and has been receiving Government disability compensation at the rate of $50 a month. He owns a farm at Halli, Mo.

The case is expected to reach the jury today.

JURY SETS ASIDE WILL
OF CASPER BERKMEIER

His Estate, Valued at $20,000, Was Left to Little Sisters of the

The will of Casper Berkmeier, who died at his home, 2105 Salisbury street, was set aside yesterday by a jury in Circuit Judge Killore's court. He left an estate estimated at $20,000 to the Little Sisters of the Poor, Hebert street and Florissant avenue.

It was alleged by two sisters and a brother who filed the suit that Casper, who was a bachelor, was
 "in a weakened condition of mind, due to a disease and the use of medicine and drugs to relieve his pain," and therefore was not capable of making a will.

J. F. O. Reller, executor, and two persons who witnessed the document, testified that the testator was of sound mind. The Mother Superior of the Little Sisters of the Poor testified neither she nor any one connected with the order knew Berkmeier.

 Charles Wright, 20 years old, secretary of the local chapter of the infirmary last evening as the result of his plunge from the roof of the chapter's headquarters, 30 minutes before. Compelled to climb a ladder to the roof and close the door behind him.

WINE GRAPE JUICE FIRM'S OFFICE RAIDED

List of Customers Seized, Manager and Salesman Arrested.

Two local agents of an Eastern wine grape juice manufacturing company face prosecution for alleged violation of the Federal Prohibition enforcement act, and a list of thirty customers supplied by the company is in possession of Chief Federal Prohibition Agent Nations, as the result of a raid yesterday afternoon on the company's local offices in the Times Building.

Nations' attention was attracted to a newspaper advertisement by "The Famous Grape Products Company" for "a few high-class salesmen to sell 'a high-grade wanted product.' Nations instructed one of his agents to apply for a position and report.

"Two Dry Agents Inside." The agent was accepted and reported that he received written instructions from his new employer on how the product might be turned into an intoxicant, but was warned that the written instructions should not be turned over to customers. He also said he had been given samples of the finished product as turned out by nature when the grape juice was permitted to stand for a period.

After Nations had placed another agent in the company's employ, who was assigned to supply the wants of two rural counties, he ordered the raid. The agents arrested John Ickenroth, 1012 Yale avenue, district manager, and Roy Keel, 2313 Wyoming street, a salesman of the Taylor Wine Co., the local distributing agency.

Has List of Customers. They also seized six gallons of the company's product, two gallons of which they said exceeded the legal alcoholic content, and the records of numerous, with names, amounts bought and prices paid. Ickenroth and Keel were taken before Commissioner Berry and arraigned on charges of manufacturing, selling and possessing intoxicants. Their bonds were set at $1500 and $1000, respectively, and their preliminary hearings set for Feb. 5.

Nations declined to say what action, if any, would be taken as a result of obtaining the list of customers.

IOWA MAN WHOSE AUTO WAS FOUND IN ST. LOUIS VANISHES
William P. Schultz, of Davenport, last heard from at Wyoming, Ill., Jan. 9, by wife.

A letter received today at police headquarters from officials of Davenport, Ia., develops a mystery in the disappearance of William P. Schultz, president of the Schultz Cigar Co., of that city, whose Ford roadster was found Jan. 12 in front of 312 North Broadway.

In the machine, were found a certificate of registration bearing Schultz's name and address, a billfold containing bills and checks and 25 sample boxes of cigars. The machine was presumed to have been stolen and the Davenport authorities were notified.

The letter received in answer states that Schultz left Davenport Jan. 2, on a business trip and communicated regularly with his wife until Jan. 9, when he wrote from Wyoming, Ill., that he was going to Peoria and from there would return by way of Burlington, Ia., where he would stop to visit his wife's mother. After that, no word was received from him.

Schultz is described as 30 years old, slender, 5 feet 7 inches in height, weighing 150 pounds and wearing glasses.

TO MAKE FORDS IN GERMANY?
Control of Company There Reported Transferred to an American. By Radio to the Post-Dispatch and Chicago Daily News.

By Radio to the Post-Dispatch and Chicago Daily News—Washington, Jan. 24.—It is believed that arrangements soon will be made with Henry Ford whereby Fords will be manufactured in Germany. The Handelsnachrichten publishes a statement that control of the Lindcarautoaktien Gesellschaft is being transferred to an American company. The correspondent learns that the present chief owner of this company, Herr Lindenmann, is leaving shortly for the United States.

Some time ago, according to German reports, Ford tried unsuccessfully to break in at Hamburg and Bremen. Now, it seems, he is considering the possibility of furnishing Germans with really cheap cars, suited to their pocketbooks. This is only one more example of the Americanization of Europe.

Almost every skin blemish and fault is fundamentally from this one cause

HOWEVER marred your skin may be with blackheads or blemishes, you may not be more than one short week away from a really radiant complexion.

Startling as this statement may seem, it is nevertheless true; and with thousands of women today the facts are being passed along from one to another.

It comes down to a simple truth about the skin which physicians will tell you is at the root of every skin blemish and fault.

The skin needs, not makeshifts, but something to release again its own normal health.

Deep down in the under layers of your skin, far below the surface, there is going on day and night an important activity of which you are hardly conscious.

Tiny glands continually functioning—
—pores throwing off poisons
—capillaries rushing fresh blood in, and carrying off infection.

—here is a delicate balance of forces like the balance wheel of a fine watch. With healthy vigor and activity, comes a clear, clean complexion. Too much or too little stimulation, and there starts that long succession of blemishes and faults that women are constantly seeking to avoid.

Resinol Ointment also for more serious skin afflictions

Not only is Resinol Ointment used everywhere for clearing away minor skin blemishes—but its soothing, healing properties sink deep into the pores, smothering and embarking—will in many cases vanish in a few days. Thousands have wondered at the quickness of its action. Even a light application sinks deep into the pores, attacks the root of the disorder, and starts the skin again acting normally. Resinol is absolutely harmless. It will not irritate even the delicate texture of an infant's skin.

THE IMPROVED
MALTED MILK
At Your Druggist's

The POST-DISPATCH is the only St. Louis evening newspaper giving Associated Press news service.

A method of daily care, based simply on the idea of keeping the skin functioning normally.

To cleanse the pores of dust and germs, to gently restore the pulsing of the capillaries in the lower layers of the skin, to carry off infection, and then to stop new infection before it starts—thousands have learned to use Resinol Soap and Resinol Ointment in the daily care of their skin.

If your complexion is not all you want it to be, begin today to use Resinol. Work gently into the pores a thick lather of Resinol Soap; then rinse off, and splash on a dash of cold water. Then, with special irritations, roughness, blemishes or rashes, apply a touch of Resinol Ointment. If possible, leave it on overnight. In the morning wash off again with Resinol Soap.

Within a week you will begin to notice the difference in your skin—a finer, softer texture—a ruddier glow, a clearing of the ugly little blemishes.

Station K S D broadcast in the space of an hour last night the voices of one of the most famous of the world's actors, and of the leader of a world-famous cult, and also present between these two men who is regarded as America's foremost harmonica soloist. The speakers were Anton Lang, who portrays the role of "Christ" in the Oberammergau Passion play, and Emile Coue of the "Every day in every way" formula. The harmonica soloist was Fred Sonnen, winner of medals in this country and abroad.

Anton Lang, who is in St. Louis with fellow villagers to exhibit the wood carving and other art work of the Bavarian Alpine people, gave a short address in which he told the history of the Passion Play, and how for the first time in the 300 years since it was first given there now is danger of its discontinuance on account of the poverty which the Bavarians are enduring as a result of the war.

Lang's Address.
He told of the reverence with which these peasants give their great play every 10 years, and how because it is a religious rite to them, they will not save it and benefit their community by commercializing what to them is a sacred thing. He said he and his fellow artists hoped to establish in America a market for their wood carvings and other work and thus offset the lack of a market which the war has occasioned abroad.

Coue's Unusual Talk.
M. Coue gave an unusual address in that it was not an address at all, but rather a series of replies to questions asked by the announcer at the station. He refused to make a straight-out address because of his poor English, as he expressed it, and asked that he be questioned instead, as he always is by representatives of the newspapers in the cities he visits. As these questions were suggested by him and read from a slip which he handed to the announcer, the interview was not so successful as it might have been if the questions had been spontaneous and his replies the same. Nevertheless, the episode was entertaining to those listening in, as was evidenced by the numerous telephone calls at the conclusion of M. Coue's visit.

Bluhill Cheese
best for macaroni—does not cook stringy

for the 9 o'clock period was given by John P. Ridgway, tenor, assisted by Miss Mildred Clark, pianist. Ridgway's mother and sister in Omaha were listening to him and his program was made up of their favorite songs.

JURY FIXES LAWYER'S FEE AS ECKERT'S COUNSEL AT $1000

Charles V. Eckert, druggist, who last month was sentenced to five years in the penitentiary and fined $2000 for violation of the Federal anti-narcotic act, today was ordered by a jury in Circuit Judge Taylor's court to pay $1000 to his former attorney, Luke E. Hart. It was the second trial of the case. A former jury allowed Hart $1250 gross, and Eckert was granted a new trial when Hart refused to remit $450, which Eckert had paid him and which he contended was included in the jury's award.

Hart sued for $7200, which he asserted was a reasonable fee for legal services he rendered Eckert from July, 1919, to October, 1921. At the time of his trial in Federal Court, Eckert was represented by another lawyer.

Nurse Ends Life in Hotel.
SACRAMENTO, Cal., Jan. 24.—A young woman believed to be Miss Maria Theresa Midgett, a trained nurse of San Antonio, Tex., died at the Sacramento Hotel here yesterday a short time after she had taken poison, according to the hotel physician. She had registered as "Ruth Taylor," New York, and had destroyed marks that might lead to her identification, but a baggage check aided in identification.

GRAND JURY BEGINS INQUIRY INTO BOXING EXHIBITIONS

Policemen Sent to One of Affairs to Obtain Evidence Are Among Witnesses Called.

The grand jury today began an investigation of the conduct of so-called boxing "exhibitions" here by the Angelica Physical Culture Club. Gov. Hyde has declared that these affairs are in reality prize fights, held in violation of a State law against prize fighting.

Members of the City Boxing Commission and policemen who had been sent to one of the exhibitions to obtain evidence were summoned to appear as witnesses before the grand jury.

Two shows held by this club in the Coliseum especially aroused the ire of the Governor and determination of the Police Department to stop the shows. The first was on Dec. 11 last, when Champion Jack Dempsey appeared and the police were not enough money taken in at the door to pay all the boxers who had been engaged, which caused the four principal boxers to leave without entering the ring.

The contention of the club is that the exhibitions are not open to the public, but only to members. However, it is simply matter to join the club and purchase a ticket to a show upon displaying the "membership" card. For instance, at the Friday show, memberships were sold for $2.50 and the top price for tickets of admission was $5.00. In connection with that fiasco the City Boxing Commission is endeavoring to find James C. Mullen, erstwhile matchmaker of the club, for an explanation of the finances.

REPORTED BEATING OF NEGRO CITY DETECTIVE INVESTIGATED

Six Special Officers Said to Have Arrested and Maltreated Clarence Stanford.

Six special officers attached to Dayton Street District are under investigation on charges that they arrested Clarence Stanford, a negro, city detective, for no apparent reason, Tuesday night and verbally and physically abused him.

According to information in the hands of Police Inspector Vasey, Detective Stanford was knocked down by one of the special officers and severely beaten about the face. In the waiting room of the Dayton Street Station. He then was sent in to Lieut. O'Brien, in charge of the station, given back his police star and revolver, and told not to say anything about the assault. Stanford appeared for duty yesterday with his face badly swollen. He was questioned by Chief of Detectives Hoagland and under pressure told of the occurrence. The officers in question have reported that Stanford resisted arrest, in a poolroom raid, but they did not explain why he was arrested. They denied he had been maltreated. Stanford says he was in the poolroom on police duty.

Yesterday afternoon only one person had registered in one large Webster Groves precinct, and reports generally are that voters have not responded to the call for registration. County voters who have not registered and do not do so today will be unable to vote before next registration day, Sept. 20.

Rickey Returns; Still Has Deal Pending, He Says

Cardinals' Manager, Back From Trip, Declines to Mention Deal in Question

Sider Says Shocker Settlement Is Omen Of Successful Year

GEORGE SIDER, commenting on the amicable settlement of the Brown's difficulty with the Cardinals management, said the Post-Dispatch today, expressing himself as satisfied that the settlement is a good omen for a successful season.

"I am glad that everyone is satisfied. I certainly am myself. It looks like a good omen for a successful season for the Browns."

GEORGE SIDER.

The Brown's new manager is wintering with Jimmy Austin at Laguna Beach, Cal.

Brown Rickey, manager of the Cardinals, who departed for the last week in the hope of completing a trade, which would bring today. He stated that he had no announcement to make, but that a deal was still pending. Just what the trade is is mere conjecture.

That trade in the East, Rickey said in conference with officials of the Boston Braves. It was indicated that he wanted Mickey Vernon, the St. Louis boy, who has been a catcher with the Braves for several seasons.

The only other player mentioned likely to come to the Cardinals was Walter Maraville, shortstop of the Braves. This report came out of the East yesterday, and according to the rumor, Maraville would come here through the Boston club a three-cornered deal being contemplated.

Rickey announced that it would be Del Gainer, the veteran first baseman, his unconditional release. Yesterday was reinstated by Commissioner Landis.

He deserted the Cardinals last season.

LONDON-EGYPT-INDIA AND AUSTRALIA AIR SERVICE PLAN

Time Would Be Cut From Month to Nine Days With Many 24-Hour Stops.

Correspondence of the Post-Dispatch.
MELBOURNE, Jan. 15.—Progress is being made toward the establishment of a gigantic air service which will connect Great Britain, Egypt, India and Australia. Details of the plan have been discussed in Melbourne with the Postmaster-General and the Minister for Defense, and it is expected that it will be carried out.

At present the journey from Australia to London occupies practically a month. The proposed airship service would cut this to a little more than nine days, which would include a stay of six hours at each of the stopping places. The airships would carry mail and passengers.

The proposed route, with time distances, follows:

Miles Hours
Great Britain to Cairo, 2,161 46
Cairo to Baghdad, 645 19
Baghdad to Bombay, 1,771 41
Bombay to Calcutta, 755 22
Calcutta to Rangoon, 700 20

210 Bushels of Potatoes to Acre.

By the Associated Press.
CLEVELAND, Jan. 25.—The Cuyahoga County Farm Bureau, in the year just closed, made four potatoes grow where only three grew before, and the extra potato is reckoned to have been worth about $30,000. The gain of one potato to every three was made on 23 test fields in the county, where certified potato seed was planted and the plants were properly sprayed. The actual yield was an average of 210 bushels to the acre, a gain of 54 bushels over the old stock.

The Man on the Sandbox

THE MAYOR OF PHILLY
SPEAKING.

WHENEVER High Jinks spills
the beans,
I page a General of Marines.
Who starts to work by drastic means
To clean up Philadelphia.

He pokes around in all the nooks,
And routes out all the thugs and crooks, Including gents who make the books,
In dear old Philadelphia.

The guys who peddle booze and dope
Are taking it upon the lobe.
And now there is a ray of hope
For dear old Philadelphia.

Though politicians snarl and sneer
And say my plan is very queer,
We'll have some law and order
here,
In dear old Philadelphia.

It takes a man behind the gun
To put the crooks upon the run;
By legal guys, it can't be done,
In dear old Philadelphia.

The situation got so tough,
The time had come to treat 'em
rough,
And call the politicians' bluff
In dear old Philadelphia.

TOO TRUE.

The Teapot Dome affair seems to be developing into something more than a tempest in a teapot.

The man on the sandbox says political appointments are always followed by disappointments. It can't be helped.

TRACING AN INQUIRY TO ITS SOURCE.

LITTLE WILLIE had been misbehaving and his mother caught him in the act. She turned him face downward across her knee and applied the back side of a family hairbrush where it was calculated to do the most good. Upon being released, the culprit presently checked his sobbing, to put the question:
"Mamma," he asked, between sniffles, "did grandpa ever do this to my daddy when he was a little boy?"
"He certainly did," answered his mother.
"And did grandpa's pa spank him when he was bad?"
"Yes."
"And did his papa spank him?"
"I'm sure of it."
The child considered for a moment:
"Well," he said at length, "what I want to know now is who started this darned thing anyway?"

GERMANY READY FOR ANY TERMS EXPERTS MAKE

Eye of Meeting in Berlin Finds Government and People Have Undergone a Change of Heart.

OWEN D. YOUNG IS CENTER OF HOPES

Observers of Paris Sessions Indicate Reich's Fate Is Well Placed in His Hands.

By ARNO BOSCH-FLEURY,
Berlin Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch and New York World.
Copyright, 1934.
BERLIN, Jan. 24.—Word has reached Germany from many sources that the reparations experts in Paris have crystallized their plans to a certain extent.
So far as Germany is concerned,
these plans have three principal points: First, to balance the budget; second, to fix heavy reparations payments in the form of a fixed debt, and, third, a big loan.
Germany also will be counselled
not to try to escape the inner debt, which is possible since the inflation and official devaluation of the mark.
The experts will frame a combined inner and reparations debt, making it smaller than either the French or the British debt, but heavy.

German Change of Heart.
Judges of Germany's mentality agree that Germany has had a change of heart and is ready to pay. Bluff and sabotage carried out by the big industrial, ruining Chancellor Wirth's policy and ending in the Ruhr occupation, are finished. Now the Socialists are thrown out and the old line government is ready to settle on any basis the experts say.
The personality of Owen D.
Young, the American expert, has made a big impression on all official and unofficial Germans who flocked to Paris with the arrival of the experts and now are reporting to Berlin. Up to the present, Gen. Charles G. Dawes was the known figure. In the Government now it is Young in whose hands
they are willing to leave their fate.
The apparent hostility of the big industries is explained in two ways.
First, even though the Ruhr received recently big foreign credits
—British, Dutch, Swiss, Swedish—they cannot work freely. Their element is contingent on getting the French administration out of the Ruhr and the Ruhr, even though the soldiers remain.

The second reason is that new credits are used largely for expansion abroad. Krupp, who got the first big credits from the Dutch, went the money in developing plants in Russia where he is building a plant, and in Barcelona, where he is working with the Maquinista Terres y Martima concern. Krupp's chief wealth lies in patents which are not workable
in Germany, so he is manufacturing elsewhere.

Stinner's Stand in Doubt.
Hugo Stinner is a doubtful figure, but it is believed he cannot shatter the policies in the present Germany as he did before. He,
with a few others, practically have Germany's railroads.
The creditors who formed a commitment in December which has been increased by a loan of 100,000,000
by another group, both acquiescing in a $20,000,000 loan for coal from the English bank of Henry Schroeder.

The combined debts already have brought the Reich's hold on the railroads. Big industry is admittingly the hardest to handle, but the Government is preparing the plan by reducing the customs on English coke and ores.
Hope for a successful outcome of the negotiations is increased further by a reduction of the unemployed in unoccupied Germany by more than 1,000,000 in the last six weeks. Everything is framing up for a favorable reception of the experts' plans.
